PETITIONERS' BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF THEIR APPLICATION FOR SUMMARY RELIEF

I. Introduction

This Court has before it H.R. 783, a “Concurrent Resolution” purporting to alter the process for voting on a Constitutional Amendment, to direct officials of the Executive Branch to take specific action at the behest of the Legislature, and to remove portions of the Election Code from force and effect. H.R. 783 claimed to do all of these things 15 days shy of the April 26, 2016 primary election, after thousands of absentee ballots had already been cast, while sealed voting machines were already being sent to polling places, and at a time when the machinery of the election could not, in fact, be stopped.

H.R. 783 is unconstitutional. It violates Articles III and XI for a variety of reasons, but primarily because it attempts to modify the Election Code and direct executive action without having been presented to the Governor. In prior attempts by the General Assembly to short-circuit the express and mandatory requirements of Article III of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the courts have stepped in to separate resolutions from bills, and invalidated resolutions that enact law without passing through the necessary constitutional steps. This case is no different.

H.R. 783 is also uniquely unconstitutional. It attempted to establish, at a time too late to be effective, a completely new election procedure for the Secretary of the Commonwealth to follow in violation of the strict advertising requirements set forth in Article XI. Those procedures are strict, and must be followed according to the decisions of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania: here, they were not, and H.R. 783 must fall.

On examination of the merits, H.R. 783's defects will become clear, and this Court should find H.R. 783 unconstitutional as a whole.

II. Questions Presented for Review

1. Did the General Assembly impermissibly use a concurrent resolution to direct the Secretary of the Commonwealth to take Ballot Question No. 1 off the 2016 primary ballot, just 15 days before the election, where the actions taken by the General Assembly must be in compliance with Article III of the Pennsylvania Constitution?

Suggested Answer: Yes.

2. Given that Ballot Question No. 1 had already been advertised to the qualified electors of this Commonwealth pursuant to Article XI, § 1, and those electors expected that it would be voted on pursuant to that constitutionally-required advertisement, did H.R. 783 fail to comply with the Constitution when it impermissibly interfered with the three-month advertising requirement of Article XI, § 1?

Suggested Answer: Yes.

3. Where H.R. 783 attempts to perform functions only permitted by bills in this Commonwealth, and H.R. 783 addresses more than one subject, does H.R. 783 violate the single-subject requirement of Article III?

Suggested Answer: Yes.

4. Given that absentee ballots had already been cast, does H.R. 783 impermissibly disenfranchise the voters of this Commonwealth, and in doing so violate Article XI?

Suggested Answer: Yes.

III. Statement of Uncontested Facts

Legislative Actions with Respect to Ballot Question No. 1

The mandatory retirement age for judges and justices, enshrined in the Pennsylvania Constitution as Art. V, § 16(b), has long been controversial. See Driscoll v. Corbett, 69 A.3d 197, 215 (Pa. 2013). The General Assembly took action in 2013 to amend Art. V, § 16(b), such that the mandatory retirement age for judges and justices would be raised to 75 years from 70 years. As required by the Pennsylvania Constitution, the amendment to Art. V, § 16(b) was passed by the General Legislature in two consecutive sessions, advertised as necessary by the Secretary, and prepared for presentation to the qualified electors of the Commonwealth.

On June 28, 2013, the House of Representatives approved a resolution placing a ballot question before the qualified electors that proposed an amendment to § 16(b), raising the issue of whether voters wished to approve a mandatory judicial retirement age of 75. See Pa. House Bill 79 Session of 2013 (“H.B. 79”), a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “1.” On October 15, 2013, the Senate approved the joint resolution and, on October 22, 2013, the joint resolution was filed with the Secretary as “Pamphlet Law Resolution No. 3.”<sup>1</sup> See Legis. Hist. of H.B. 79, a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “2.”

As directed by H.B. 79 and as mandated by Article XI, § 1 of the Constitution, the Secretary advertised this first passage of the proposed amendment to § 16(b). See Advertising Expenses, true and complete copies of which are attached hereto as Exhibit “3.”

On November 17, 2015, both the House and Senate approved a joint resolution representing the necessary second passage of the proposed amendment. See Pa. House Bill 90, Session of 2015 (“H.B. 90”), a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “4.” As directed by H.B. 90 and as mandated by Article XI, § 1 of the Constitution, the Secretary advertised the proposed amendment’s second passage. This advertising included a “plain English” summary of the proposed amendment, prepared by the Office of the Attorney General. See Public Notice, a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “5.”

<sup>1</sup> Notably, H.B. 79 was passed as a joint resolution because the Senate Rule 29(d)(1) limits constitutional amendments to being passed by joint resolution.

As required by and in full accordance with Article XI, § 1, the Secretary proceeded to submit the proposed amendment to the Commonwealth’s qualified electors as a ballot question for the April 26, 2016 primary election. This date was dictated by the General Assembly directly in H.B. 90, which mandated that the question be placed on the first primary or general election ballot. Exh. “4.” The amendment to Art. V, § 16(b) became Ballot Question No. 1 on the primary ballot of April 26, 2016. The Secretary of the Commonwealth phrased Ballot Question No. 1 as follows:

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years, instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?

Exh. “5.”

Apparently dissatisfied with the Secretary’s exercise of discretion with respect to the wording of Ballot Question No. 1, Respondent Senate Republicans sued to prevent the Secretary’s wording of Ballot Question No. 1 from appearing on the April 26, 2016 ballot. See Emergency Application in 29 MM 2016, a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “6.” The Emergency Application requested that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court act in its King’s Bench jurisdiction to alter Ballot Question No. 1 to read:

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices ~~of the Supreme Court,~~ judges and justices of the peace ~~(known as magisterial district judges)~~ be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years[.], ~~instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?~~

Exh. “6” at p. 1.

Through a March 23, 2016 Per Curiam Order, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied any relief. See Mar. 23, 2016 Order in 29 MM 2016, a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “7.”

The General Assembly Passes H.R. 783,
a Concurrent Resolution

Subsequent to the Supreme Court’s ruling in the King’s Bench matter brought by the Senate Majority Respondents, the House acted to, inter alia, modify the wording of Ballot Question No. 1 and change the date that the amendment would be placed before the Commonwealth’s electors.

On April 6, 2016, the House approved H.R. 783, which the Senate adopted on April 11, 2016. See H.R. 783, Printer’s No. 3091 and S.R. 321, Printer’s No. 1668, true and complete copies of which are attached hereto as Exhibit “8”; Legis. Hist. of H.R. 783, a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “9.”

As adopted, the Concurrent Resolution directs the Secretary to “remove the ballot question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 from the ballot certification for the primary election on April 26, 2016.” Exh. “5.” It further directs county boards of election to “remove, to the extent possible, the ballot question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 from the ballot;” and directs that “the Secretary disregard any vote on Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 in the primary election on April 26, 2016.” Id. H.R. 783 further prohibits the Secretary from making any “tally of votes cast on Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1” at the April 26, 2016 primary, and to instead advertise and place the proposed amendment on the November 8, 2016 general election ballot. Id.

The General Assembly also directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to rephrase Ballot Question No. 1 in precisely this manner:

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges, and magisterial district judges be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years?

Id.

H.R. 783 was not submitted to the Governor for review. Op. of April 20, 2016 at 4.

The Special Relief Hearing and the April 26, 2016 Primary Election

Petitioners brought this action to prevent H.R. 783 from taking effect, and sought special and summary relief from this Court. On April 19, 2016, this Court held a hearing on special relief, where two witnesses testified and several exhibits were offered into evidence.

Petitioners presented the testimony of Lisa Marie Deeley, an elected City Commissioner of Philadelphia County. Apr. 19, 2016 Trans. at 4:11-22, the relevant portions of which are attached hereto as Exhibit “10.” She testified that as of April 19, 2016, the ballot faces for the 3517 voting machines used in Philadelphia County had been printed and that voting machines were in the process of being delivered to polling places. Id. at 6:2-12. It was Ms. Deeley’s understanding that any effect of H.R. 783 would come as a result of instructions from the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the county boards of election. Id. at 8:9-20.

With respect to the possibility of removing Ballot Question No. 1 from the voting machines, Ms. Deeley responded: “We could not remove it, no.” Id. at 8:21-24. As to whether the machines could be stickered, Ms. Deeley described the procedure necessary and admitted that “sticker” was not a practical possibility as of that date. Id. at 9:1-12.

Ms. Deeley further stressed the difficulty of altering polling place materials at the late date of April 19, 2016: she indicated that Philadelphia County has approximately 1300 polling places. Id. at 24:14-25:6.

Ms. Deeley also described the absentee ballot process in Philadelphia County. She confirmed that as of April 19, 2016, Philadelphia had sent out 5,000 absentee ballots to voters. Id. at 9:22-24. Of those, 2,200 were sent to military personnel. Id. at 10:3-9. Half of the total number of ballots sent out, or 2,500, had been returned, with about 1300 being from military personnel. Id. at 10:14-11:4. Ms. Deeley also testified that she lacked any discretion to not count those ballots after the polls closed on April 26, 2016. Id. at 12:12-25.

Jonathan Marks, the Commissioner of the Bureau of Commissions, Elections and Legislation of the Department of State, also testified. Mr. Marks oversees elections in Pennsylvania, including the April 26, 2016 primary. Id. at 26:5-20. He testified as to the process of canvassing in Pennsylvania, indicating that it was a “transparent process,” including counting the ballots and challenges to absentee ballots on election night. Id. at 28:18-29:7.

Mr. Marks admitted that statutory mandates exist requiring that absentee ballots be canvassed on election day by the counties, that he tally votes cast in the primary election, and that the counties report election night returns to the Secretary. Id. at 29:14-17, 30:11-24, 78:2-14. Mr. Marks further admitted that with respect to any alterations to the ballot other than those directed by H.R. 783, such changes were being made subject to existing procedures in the Election Code. Id. at 46:22-47:10.

According to Mr. Marks, nothing in the Election Code as it stood, aside from H.R. 783, would permit him not to tally votes for Ballot Question No. 1. Id. at 47:11-17. He went so far as to affirm that H.R. 783 directed him to ignore an express statutory mandate to tally votes from the primary election of April 26, 2016. Id. at 31:3-18. In fact, Mr. Marks testified that unofficial counting of election returns by the Secretary and certifying official results are both “tallying” of votes. Id. at 94: 5-25.

With respect to Ballot Question No. 1, Mr. Marks testified that he provided the official version of the question to the county boards of election on March 23, 2016, after the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania declined to grant relief in the King's Bench action to change the wording of the question in a similar manner to the wording later used in H.R. 783. Id. at 43:3-9; 67:22-68:2. He further testified regarding the advertising costs expended prior to H.R. 783 and expected as a result of H.R. 783, indicating that the additional expense would be approximately $1.3 million. Id. at 49:3-14.

With respect to an attempt to obscure Ballot Question No. 1 from being visible to voters in the primary election of April 26, 2016, Mr. Marks testified that given the late date at which H.R. 783 would take effect, "One county may be able to accommodate it; another county may not." Id. at 60:15-23. Even at the time H.R. 783 was passed, Mr. Marks testified that "as a practical matter, it was probably too late for the overwhelming majority of the counties to take it off at that point anyway." Id. at 69:1-4.

Mr. Marks also testified as to the difficulty of changing Ballot Question No. 1 after the voting machines had been prepared for use at polling places. Id. at 72:11-73:10. According to Marks, any change must take place weeks prior to the election, because of the transparent testing required of the computerized electronic machines currently used in Pennsylvania. Id. The practical deadline to re-program voting machines was “basically the last week of March.” Id. at 76:11-18. Mr. Marks also confirmed that Ballot Question No. 1 would be on the ballot in all 67 counties, and that last minute changes to the ballot created “risk.” Id. at 74:5-11, 77:4-16.

With respect to voting machines that had already been locked and sealed and delivered to polling places, Mr. Marks testified that posting in the polling place was the sole remedial measure practical. Id. at 79:14-20. Regarding a putative posting to notify electors that Ballot Question No. 1 was not officially on the ballot due to H.R. 783, Mr. Marks admitted that there was no uniform mechanism to make sure that the posting was made. Id. at 84: 11-23.

Asked if the Secretary could comply with the non-tallying requirement of H.R. 783 with respect to election night reporting, Mr. Marks testified that the Secretary would end up tallying and reporting election night returns for a majority of counties on Ballot Question No.

1 regardless of H.R. 783. Id. at 85:22-88:8. In fact, when presented with the prospect of this Court allowing H.R. 783 to take effect and nullifying the ballot question, Mr. Marks testified that such an action “would add confusion at this late date. Voters may be confused.” Id. at 90:12-91:18.

Mr. Marks also testified concerning the ongoing absentee ballot vote occurring as of April 19, 2016. He confirmed that 98,000 absentee ballots had been sent to voters by the counties as of that date, and that there was no practical way to recall those ballots. Id. at 28:2-4, 31:22-32:1. Of those, “over 32,000 statewide” had been returned by absentee voters. Id. at 27:22-28:1. Mr. Marks fully expected that the absentee ballots would be kept secure and canvassed on April 26, 2016, along with the in-person vote. Id. at 29:14-30:10.

Through its April 20, 2016 Memorandum Opinion (amended on April 28, 2016) and Order, this Court denied injunctive relief. This Court’s Opinion found that Article XI, § 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution “vests within the General Assembly the exclusive authority to determine the ‘time’ and ‘manner’ amendments are to be submitted to qualified electors[.]” Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 at 7 (as amended, emphasis in original). Based on this grant of authority and failing to find any other express limitations in the Constitution regarding the power of the General Assembly with respect to time and manner, this Court found that Petitioners lacked sufficient probability of success on the merits to merit special relief. Id. at 8-11.

Specifically, this Court found that Ballot Question No. 1 having been moved to another date by the General Assembly under Article XI, § 1, there was no conflict between H.R. 783 and the statutory provisions of the Election Code. Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 at 8-14 (as amended). This Court did not rule on the propriety of H.R. 783's dictating the form of the ballot question to the Secretary, finding the issue unripe. Id. at 17-18.

The primary election of April 26, 2016, went forward, and H.R. 783 was permitted to have effect by this Court in removing Ballot Question No. 1 de jure, while Ballot Question No. 1 was de facto voted on by a great many electors of this Commonwealth. Pursuant to the longstanding practice recognized by this Court in its April 20 Opinion, the Secretary posted election night returns. See Pennsylvania Elections – Summary Results, a true and complete copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit “11.” The election night returns indicated that 2,376,049 Pennsylvanians voted on Ballot Question No. 1, 98.9% of the number of electors voting on the other constitutional amendment ballot question. Id. Furthermore, six counties (Bradford, Juniata, Pike, Potter, Sullivan, and Washington) did not report election night returns, though there is no reason to believe that Ballot Question No. 1 was not presented to the electors in those counties.

IV. Argument

The Standard for Summary Relief

Petitioners brought this Application for “Summary Relief” under Rule 1532(b) of the Appellate Rules, which provides: “[a]t any time after the filing of a petition for review in an appellate or original jurisdiction matter the court may on application enter judgment if the right of the applicant thereto is clear.” Pa. R.A.P. 1532(b).

In evaluating a request for summary relief, the Court applies the same standards that apply on summary judgment. See Myers v. Com., 128 A.3d 846, 849 (Pa. Commw. 2015). Summary relief under Rule 1532(b) is thus appropriate where the moving “party’s right to judgment is clear ... and no issues of material fact are in dispute.” McGarry v. PA

A. H.R. 783 is unconstitutional due to its failure to conform to Article III, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution’s requirement that it be presented to the Governor

H.R. 783 is patently unconstitutional because it fails to comply with Article III of the Pennsylvania Constitution. It is undisputed on the evidence before this Court that H.R. 783 was not provided to the Governor under Article III, § 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution. As the actions H.R. 783 does not limit its scope to acting under Article XI, § 1, and compels action of coordinate branches of the government, it required full compliance with Article III, § 9 including that it be “presented to the Governor and before it shall take effect be approved by him.” Pa. Const. Art. III. § 9.

Now that this Court’s focus turns to the merits of the case after the voting on April 26, 2016, and the computation of the election night returns, it is apparent that H.R. 783 compels actions contrary to the Election Code.

As this Court recognized, “Article XI, section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution vests within the General Assembly the exclusive authority to determine the ‘time’ and ‘manner’ amendments are to be submitted to qualified electors for approval. Article XI, § 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution provides the ‘complete and detailed process for the amendment of that document.’” Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 (as amended) at 7 (emphasis in original) (quoting Kremer v. Grant, 606 A.2d 433, 436 (Pa. 1992)). Indeed, Article XI requires “literal compliance” with each of its mandates. Kremer, 606 A.2d at 438.

Following those mandates, the General Assembly adopted H.B. 79 and H.B. 90 through two joint resolutions, which is the proper mechanism for placing proposed constitutional amendments on a future ballot for the electorate’s consideration. See West Shore School District v. PLRB, 570 A.2d 1354, 1357 (Pa. Commw. 1990) (“The General Assembly uses joint resolutions for the sole purpose of proposing constitutional amendments.”) (citing 101 Pa. Code § 9.41). See also Sen. R. 29(d)(1).

Joint resolutions and concurrent resolutions occupy, by virtue of law and tradition, entirely different roles. While joint resolutions operate to pass constitutional amendments in Pennsylvania, concurrent resolutions are commonly used “for recalling a bill from the Governor or the other house, returning a bill to the Governor, adjournments sine die or in excess of three days, recesses in excess of a week and memorializing Congress.” 101 Pa. Code § 9.43(b). This limitation is not merely regulatory, but has been the traditional use of concurrent resolutions in Pennsylvania. Prior to H.R. 783, concurrent resolutions have been employed as follows:

- H.R. 308 of 2003 honored former State Rep. Karl Boyes by renaming a nature trail;
- H.R. 29 of 1989 directed the Pennsylvania Energy Office to study and report on a pollution issue;
- S.R. 19 of 1987 urged the PUC to direct utilities to reduce rates;
- H.R. 168 of 1986 directed the Department of Health to investigate the measures to prevent the spread of AIDS;
- S.R. 225 of 1982 promoted a discussion of low-level radioactive waste disposal;
- H.R. 24 of 1981 required the Commission on Sentencing to revise and resubmit sentencing guidelines; and
- S.R. 119 of 1965 urged DPW to increase incidental work expenses.

H.R. 783 is, therefore, an innovation—and an impermissible innovation—in the uses of concurrent resolutions in Pennsylvania.

Additionally, these prior concurrent resolutions were not required to be presented to the Governor, as they did not constitute exercises of the legislative power. See, e.g., Commonwealth v. Kuphal, 500 A.2d 1205, 1206-07 (Pa. Super. Ct. 1985).

Following the adoption of each joint resolution establishing Ballot Question No. 1, the Secretary fulfilled his duties under Article XI to cause the proposed amendment to be published in newspapers in each of the Commonwealth's counties, along with the required "plain English" summary of the proposed amendment. Following H.B. 90's adoption, more than three months in advance of the election the Secretary properly advertised Proposed Amendment No. 1 (along with the plain English summary), and subsequently placed the question on the April 26, 2016 election ballot. All that is undisputed, and it is likewise undisputed that the Secretary properly carried out Article XI's literal mandates prior to the passage of H.R. 783.

1) Nothing in Article XI vests the General Assembly with authority to unilaterally impose on the Secretary the Concurrent Resolution's directives or prohibitions

Whether the same can be said of H.R. 783 can only be determined by close reading of Article XI's "literal" words, examined in light of their plain meaning. Following the General Assembly's second passage of a proposed amendment, Article XI directs the Secretary to:

[C]ause the [proposed amendment] again to be published in the manner aforesaid; and such proposed amendment or amendments shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State in such manner, and at such time at least three months after being so agreed to by the two Houses, as the General Assembly shall prescribe.

Pa. Const., art. XI, § 1.

In contrast to the Joint Resolutions, H.R. 793, adopted on April 11, 2016, represents an entirely different species of legislative action.

Specifically, the Concurrent Resolution:

- directs the Secretary to “remove the ballot question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 from the ballot certification for the primary election on April 26, 2016”;
- directs all 67 county boards of election to “remove, to the extent possible, the ballot question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 from the ballot”;
- directs the Secretary to “disregard any vote on Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 in the primary election on April 26, 2016”;
- prohibits the Secretary from making any “tally of votes cast on Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1” at the April 26, 2016 primary; and
- directs the Secretary to alter the ballot question's language (to be placed on the November 2016 ballot) that the Secretary properly drafted on his own accord and placed on the April 26, 2016 ballot.<sup>3</sup>

Exh. 8.

But nothing Article XI’s “literal” words purports to vest the General Assembly with authority to direct or instruct the Secretary to “remove” ballot questions from an election once the Secretary has placed the question. Nor does Article XI give the General Assembly authority to direct the Secretary to “disregard” an election return, or to “prohibit” the Secretary from tallying votes cast on a proposed amendment. And most certainly, nothing in Article XI’s authorizes the General Assembly to compel the Secretary to alter the language of a ballot question on a proposed amendment.

Indeed, with respect to the Commonwealth’s online Election Night Return (“ENR”) platform, this Court concluded that nothing in Article XI granted “the General Assembly the power to direct unilaterally an executive branch agency to refrain from publicly reporting data

<sup>3</sup> Specifically, the Concurrent Resolution directs the Secretary to alter the specific language of the ballot question per the blacklined version below:

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and ~~justices of the peace~~ (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years, ~~instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?~~ transmitted to the agency by county boards of election pursuant to statute.” Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 (as amended) at 16 (citing Jefferson Cty. Court Appointed Employees Ass’n v. Pennsylvania Labor Relations Bd., 985 A.2d 697, 706-07 (Pa. 2009)).

As the Jefferson County Court made clear, fundamental separation of powers concerns require each branch of government to operate within its own “separate sphere of power.” 985 A.2d at 706. In addressing the ENR issue in terms of separation of powers concerns, this Court necessarily concluded that the General Assembly lacked either constitutional or statutory authority to unilaterally direct the Secretary on how he should report election returns regarding the vote on a proposed amendment to the public.

If, as this Court found, the General Assembly lacks authority under Article XI to direct how the Secretary reports the votes cast on a proposed constitutional amendment, what in Article XI vests the General Assembly with authority, for example, to prohibit the Secretary from tallying those votes, or to direct the Secretary to alter the language of his own ballot proposal? Petitioners contend, most respectfully, that the Court’s analysis and holding on the ENR question compels the same analysis and holding with respect to remainder of the Concurrent Resolution's directives to the Secretary. "[N]o branch may usurp a function belonging to another" under the doctrine of separation of powers. Id.

2) Even if within the General Assembly's Article XI powers, enforcement of the Concurrent Resolution's directives and prohibitions would require the Election Code's revision

Even presuming that authority for the Concurrent Resolution could be derived from the General Assembly's Article XI "manner" and "time" powers, the Election Code itself sets forth the specific contours of the General Assembly's authority to issue directives to the Secretary as an Executive Department official. As that authority derives from the Election Code, H.R. 783 could not alter it without resort to the legislative procedures mandated by Article III. "Because a resolution does not have the force and effect of law, our Supreme Court has always held that the General Assembly cannot use this legislative device as a substitution for a law." West Shore Sch. Dist., 570 A.2d at 1357 (1990).

As a general matter, Article III legislation (the Election Code) places on the Secretary a broad range of responsibilities and duties regarding the conduct of all state-wide elections. See 25 P.S. § 2621(a)

(the Secretary “shall exercise in the manner provided by this act all powers granted to him by this act, and shall perform all the duties imposed upon him by this act”).

With respect to proposed constitutional amendments, the Election Code directs the Secretary to “certify to county boards of elections for primaries and elections ... the form and wording of constitutional amendments ... to be submitted to the electors of the State at large.” 25 P.S. § 2621(c) (emphasis added). Following all state-wide elections, the Election Code directs the Secretary to “canvass and compute the votes cast ... upon questions as required by the provisions of this act” and “to proclaim the results of such primaries and elections[.]” 25 P.S. § 2621(f).

With respect to proposed constitutional amendments, the Election Code delegates other specific responsibilities to both the Attorney General and the Secretary. Under the Election Code, the Attorney General must draft a “plain English” statement of the proposed amendment. See 25 P.S. § 2621.1 (“the Attorney General shall prepare a statement in plain English which indicates the purpose, limitations and effects of the ballot question on the people of the Commonwealth”).

This same section of the Election Code directs the Secretary to include the Attorney General’s statement with the Article XI mandated advertising, and to then “certify such statement to the county boards of elections who shall publish such statement as a part of the notice of elections ....” Id.

The Concurrent Resolution’s directives to and prohibitions upon the Secretary plainly modify the Secretary’s duties imposed by the Election Code. Thus, the Concurrent Resolution could only be enforced through amendments to the Election Code, which in turn would require the General Assembly to enact amending legislation that met all requirements of Article III. There is no dispute that the General Assembly never pursued amending legislation, and thus the Concurrent Resolution represents nothing more than a “purely advisory opinion without the force or effect of law.” Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 (as amended) at 16.

Other authority in Pennsylvania supports this outcome. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court recognized the limitations of a resolution—a joint resolution in that case rather than a mere concurrent resolution—in Scudder v. Smith. 200 A. 601, 604 (Pa. 1938).

Scudder reviewed a legislative attempt to create a commission without the formal process of passing a bill, and found it wanting. Id.

Although the resolution in Scudder was alleged to be deficient for numerous reasons, its attempt to establish law by a means other than a bill was the reason the resolution was pronounced unconstitutional, and H.R. 783 is no different in its failure to meet the formal requirements of Article III. See also Joint or Concurrent Resolutions, 1915 WL 5005, at *2 (Pa. Att'y Gen. June 9, 1915) (“I am, therefore, of opinion that not all joint or concurrent resolutions passed by the legislature must be submitted to the Governor for his approval, but only such as make legislation or have the effect of legislating, i.e., enacting, repealing or amending laws or statutes or which have the effect of committing the State to a certain action or which provide for the expenditure of public money.”).

For these reasons alone, this Court should find H.R. 783 unconstitutional.

B. This Court’s decision, granting the General Assembly exclusive authority over the time and manner of placing proposed amendments on the ballot, necessarily leads to results conflicting with Article XI’s advertising requirements

Any new interpretation of a constitutional provision that leads to results impossible to reconcile with other, firmly-established constructions of that same provision are flawed. Here, the Court’s interpretation of Article XI, which vests the General Assembly with exclusive and indeed unreviewable authority to move the vote on a proposed constitutional amendment from one election to another, in any manner it sees fit, cannot be reconciled the Supreme Court’s long-settled authority governing Article XI’s mandatory advertising requirements.

Just a few hypothetical applications, which are nonetheless compelled by the Court’s reasoning, demonstrate that conflict. For example, if Article XI vests the General Assembly with exclusive authority to “move” the vote on a proposed amendment<sup>4</sup> – here just two weeks before the election presenting the ballot question – there is no principled reason to reject the General Assembly's right to exercise that same power just the day before the scheduled election.

<sup>4</sup> In raising this hypothetical, Petitioners are not conceding that Article XI vests the General Assembly with authority, at any time, to move the vote on a proposed amendment from one election to the next.

Indeed, when the Court posed this April 25, 2016 hypothetical to Respondents' counsel, he agreed that such a resolution adopted on election-eve would fall within General Assembly's Article XI powers:

THE COURT: So the General Assembly ... the day before the election ... could pass a joint resolution saying to the Secretary, you know that ballot question we put on, don't count the results.

MR. HAVERSTICK: Under any fair reading of Article XI, absolutely.

Exh. 10 at 124-125.

With unconstrained power over the time and manner of the vote on a proposed amendment, the General Assembly must likewise have the power to permanently remove a proposed amendment from the ballot, again at any time before voting begins. That result contravenes what Article XI's framers intended to accomplish through the advertising requirement.

In construing that intent, the Supreme Court has emphasized that a central purpose of Article XI's three-month advertising window is to provide voters with adequate time to determine how individual candidates, appearing on the same ballot as the proposed amendment, voted on the proposed amendment.

Thus, if a voter strongly opposes a proposed amendment, and a candidate on the same ballot voted in favor of the amendment, adequately informed the voter is able to voice his “displeasure” with that position by voting against the candidate. See Kremer v. Grant, 529 Pa. 602, 611, 606 A.2d 433, 438 (1992) (Article XI’s advertising requirement provides voters the “opportunity to indicate their displeasure at the ballot box and elect individuals to the next General Assembly with different attitudes”).

Allowing the General Assembly to permanently remove a proposed amendment from the ballot, at any time within three months of the election, plainly frustrates that intent. See Pennsylvania Prison Soc. v. Com., 565 Pa. 526, 535, 776 A.2d 971, 976 (2001) (“Where ... we must decide between two interpretations of a constitutional provision, we must favor a natural reading which avoids contradictions and difficulties in implementation, which completely conforms to the intent of the framers and which reflects the views of the ratifying voter.”) (emphasis added).

1) The Supreme Court requires the General Assembly’s “literal compliance” with Article XI’s advertising requirements

When the General Assembly exercises its powers to propose constitutional amendments “nothing short of literal compliance” with Article XI’s mandates, construed in light of their plain language, will “suffice.” Kremer, 606 A.2d at 438. See also Bergdoll v. Kane, 731 A.2d 1261, 1270 (Pa. 1999) (“The Constitution is specific in providing a complete and detailed process for the amendment of that document which is set forth in Article XI”).

Among its “literal” directives, Article XI requires the Secretary to cause the proposed amendment to be “published three months before the next general election, in at least two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers shall be published.” Pa. Const. art. XI, § 1. See Tausig v. Lawrence, 328 Pa. 408, 413, 197 A. 235, 238 (1938) (“To withhold strict compliance with the three months’ limitation and substitute a different method of advertisement which substantially accomplishes the desired result would be to rewrite the constitutional provision.”).

Although the record is clear that following its second passage in the General Assembly, the Secretary properly advertised the Proposed Amendment (H.R. 90), the record is equally undisputed that the General Assembly failed to direct the Secretary to advertise the Concurrent Resolution (H.R. 783). Of course, having been adopted on April 11, 2016, Article XI's three-month advertising window for H.R. 783 had long closed.

2) The Court's holding presumes that the General Assembly's authority over the time and manner of placing a proposed amendment before the voters is unreviewable

Based on its reading of the provision's "literal" requirements, the Court held that Article XI "vests within the General Assembly the exclusive authority to determine the 'time' and 'manner' amendments are to be submitted to the qualified electors for approval." Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 (as amended) at 7 (emphasis in original).

According to the Court's Memorandum Opinion, that exclusive authority derives from Article XI's words authorizing the General Assembly to submit a proposed amendment to the State's qualified electors "in such manner, and at such time at least three months after being so agreed to by the two Houses, as the General Assembly shall prescribe.” Pa. Const., art XI, § 1. See Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 (as amended) at 10 (“The General Assembly’s power to dictate the time at which and manner by which a proposed constitutional amendment will be presented to the electorate derives from Article XI, section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.”).

Based on its construction of this language from Article XI, the Court emphasized repeatedly that with the General Assembly’s adoption of the Concurrent Resolution, the Proposed Amendment “is no longer a question to be submitted to the electors of the State at large on the April 2016 ballot.” Op. of Apr. 20, 2016 (as amended) at 12. See also id. at 21 (“Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 is not on the April 2016 Ballot, regardless of what the actual ballot may say, and that any votes cast on that question will not be canvassed, counted, or tabulated.”) (emphasis in original).

The Court’s analysis thus presumes that literal compliance with Article XI’s advertising requirements was satisfied with the Secretary’s undisputedly proper advertising of HR 90. But the Court never addressed whether Article XI's advertising requirements applied to H.R. 783.

But when examined in light of their declared purpose and role in the constitutional amendment process, Article XI's advertising requirements should have been central to the Court's analysis, and is impossible to reconcile with the necessary consequences of the Court's holding.

3) The Framers drafted Article XI's advertising requirements to ensure that voters had sufficient time to determine each candidate's position on the amendment proposed

The Supreme Court has identified two independent reasons why Article XI's framers declared state-wide advertisement essential to the amendment process. See Kremer, 606 A.2d at 436. First the Secretary's advertisement informs voters that a proposed constitutional amendment will be placed on the next election ballot and explains what the proposed amendment entails. Id.

Second, and critical here, Article XI's three-month advertising window "let[s] the public ascertain the attitudes of the candidates for election to the General Assembly 'next afterwards chosen':

For if an informed electorate disagrees with the proposed amendments, they will have an opportunity to indicate their displeasure at the ballot box and elect individuals to the next General Assembly with different attitudes.

Kremer, 606 A.2d at 438.

As the Kremer Court explained, Article XI's three-month advertising window provides voters with sufficient time to determine how Senate and House candidates on that same ballot voted on the proposed amendment.<sup>5</sup>

With that knowledge and based on their own "attitude" towards the proposed amendment, the three-month window thus enables the qualified electors to cast their votes for candidates on that same ballot accordingly. See Tausig, 197 A. at 238 ("The purpose of [Article XI's advertising requirements] and the manner in which that purpose is expressed are clear and simple. ... [T]he intention of the section was to afford the electorate abundant opportunity to be advised of proposed amendments and ascertain the attitude of the candidates for election to the General Assembly 'next afterwards chosen' to the amendments.").

<sup>5</sup> Because the advertisements required by Article XI amendments do not identify individual "yeas" and "nays" of State Senators and Representatives on a proposed amendment, before entering the voting booth motivated voters need some time to conduct this "due diligence."

As explained above, this Court’s ultimate holding depends, inextricably, on a construction of Article XI that grants the General Assembly the exclusive and unreviewable authority to move the vote on a proposed amendment whenever it wants and however it wants. That sweeping investiture of power, just as inexorably, would authorize the General Assembly to permanently remove a proposed amendment – submitted and prescribed in absolute conformity with Article XI’s literal requirements – on the very eve of a scheduled election

But what then of the voter who read the Secretary’s advertisement, strongly agreed with the proposed amendment, and devoted time and effort to researching how his General Assembly candidates each voted on the proposed amendment? She enters the polling station intending to vote for Senate candidate “A” and House candidate “B” because both voted in favor of the proposed amendment – only to see a notice that the amendment has been removed.

Did either Candidate “A” or “B” vote to remove the amendment? Of course, short of leaving the polling place to conduct her own research, the voter has no way to know. Thus, through a concurrent resolution adopted the day before the scheduled vote, the General Assembly has overridden a central purpose of Article XI's advertising requirement. Tausig v. Lawrence, 328 Pa. 408, 413-14, 197 A. 235, 238 (1938) ("No uncertainty or compromise is suggested by the phrase, 'and the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cause the same to be published.' Any period less than that prescribed by the section will not suffice.").

Accordingly, the Court's expansive construction of Article XI, which necessarily vests the General Assembly with the exclusive and unconstrained power to "move" or "re-move" a proposed amendment from the ballot, at any time and in any manner it decides, fails to conform with the literal words or intent of Article XI's advertising requirements. See In re Bruno, 627 Pa. 505, 546, 101 A.3d 635, 659 (2014) ("A constitutional provision requires unstrained analysis, a natural reading which avoids contradictions and difficulties in implementation, which completely conforms to the intent of the framers and which reflects the views of the ratifying voter.").

4) Article XI should be construed to prohibit any alteration of the vote on a proposed amendment within three months of the originally prescribed election

Having identified what Petitioners believe to be a fatal defect in the Court's analysis, they have some obligation to propose an alternative construction that does comport with Article XI's advertising requirements.

Under their alternative, with H.B. 90's passage, the General Assembly's transmission of Proposed Amendment 1 to the Secretary, and the Secretary's placement of the proposed amendment on the April 2016 ballot, the General Assembly put into motion a train that, within the three-month advertising window, the General Assembly lacked constitutional authority to either re-route or derail.

That construction fully preserves and implements what the Framers intended through Article XI's advertising requirement, and strictly complies with its literal terms. See Kremer, 606 A.2d at 438 (“To withhold strict compliance with the three months’ limitation and substitute a different method of advertisement which substantially accomplishes the desired result would be to rewrite the constitutional provision.”).

Adopted within three months of the April 2016 primary, the Concurrent Resolution fails that standard. Petitioners respectfully contend that the hypotheticals above are more than just that, and make clear that once an election is less than three months away, nothing in Article XI authorizes the General Assembly to reschedule or remove from that election a ballot question placing a proposed amendment before the electorate.

For these reasons alone, this Court should find H.R. 783 unconstitutional.

C. The Concurrent Resolution impermissibly addresses more than one subject

As has been amply demonstrated supra, H.R. 783 is a concurrent resolution that purports to do things no concurrent resolution can, such as direct actions of Executive employees and amend the Election Code. Unfortunately, even if H.R. 783 is examined as being a bill—the primary means through which the Legislature can exercise legislative powers, such as changing the Election Code—it is facially deficient, as it impermissibly covers more than one subject. Scudder, 200 A. at 604 (setting out the requirements that laws be passed by bill in Pennsylvania).

It is plain on the face of H.R. 783 that it covers more than one subject. In part, it attempts to effect a change in time for the vote on an amendment to Article V, § 16(b) of the Pennsylvania Constitution; in part, it directs action by a member of the executive branch, the Secretary; and in part, it modifies portions of the Election Code for the primary and general elections of 2016. H.R. 783 cannot do all three and comply with the single-subject requirement of the Pennsylvania Constitution, and for this reason, it must be held unconstitutional in toto.

Article III, Section 3 of the Pennsylvania Constitution serves to cure several ills: it prevents legislative “logrolling,” inhibits unpopular riders, and deters hidden legislation City of Philadelphia v. Commonwealth, 838 A.2d 566, 586 (Pa. 2003). It does this through two unalterable requirements: clear expression and single subject. Pa. Cons. Art. III, § 3. The single subject and clear expression requirements are held to be met when the various parts of a bill serve its main objective and are “germane’ to the bill’s subject as reflected in its title.” City of Philadelphia, 838 A.2d at 587.

The title of H.R. 783 provided by the General Assembly is:

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Further providing for submission to the electorate of a constitutional amendment on retirement for justices, judges and justices of the peace.

Exh. 8. This title discloses only an Article XI, § 1 subject and concomitant exercise of authority. Given that H.R. 783 does more than address the express grants of authority in Article XI, § 1, this title on its face runs afoul of Article III, Section 3. It not only attempts to move, under Article XI, Section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the date that Ballot Question No. 1 is to be submitted to voters, but it makes substantive alterations to the election process for the primary election of April 26, 2016, and directs the rephrasing of the ballot question. From the single-subject and clear expression point of view, one must step back until nearly all of the election machinery of the Commonwealth can be seen before this disparate set of changes can be seen as a single subject. “There must be limits, however, as otherwise virtually all legislation, no matter how diverse in substance, would meet the single-subject requirement.” City of Philadelphia, 838 A.2d at 588. Bills can address multiple aspects of a single subject and pass muster, such as altering general grants of powers to Philadelphia’s home rule, or regulating gaming. Spahn v. Zoning Bd. of Adjustment, 977 A.2d 1132, 1148 (Pa. 2009).

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, however, has found that where one piece of legislation affects more than one governmental function—particularly where the functions affect legislative and executive powers—the single-subject rule is violated. Pennsylvania State Ass'n of Jury Comm'rs v. Commonwealth, 619 Pa. 369, 381, 64 A.3d 611, 618 (Pa. 2013) (“We further agree that the dual governmental function of a board of county commissioners—executive and legislative—militates against finding Act 108 to be in concert with the single subject rule. . .”). Here it is indisputable that the General Assembly has combined alterations to the Election Code regarding the actions of the Secretary and the county boards (and directives to part of the executive to act at the behest of the legislature) with changing the time of a constitutional amendment ballot question. Dual governmental functions are at issue here: the background actions of the executive during an election, which are primarily performed under the Election Code as validly enacted through Article III, and the machinery of constitutional amendment, controlled exclusively by Article XI, § 1. In Pennsylvania State Ass'n of Jury Commissioners, it was too great a stretch under the single-subject rule to amend two separate articles of the County Code; here, H.R. 783 purports to amend the Election Code and the Pennsylvania Constitution, two much less closely related portions of the law. 64 A.3d at 618-19 (“More so, and related thereto, Section 401(f) and Section 1805 amend two separate articles of Chapter 1 of the County Code: Article IV (County Officers) and Article XVIII (Contracts). Thus, Act 108, while relating to the local governing body of county commissioners, cannot be narrowed to a more specific governmental function.”) (citation omitted).

As H.R. 783 violates the single subject rule, it is not possible for this Court to divine what part of it was intended by the General Assembly to be centrally germane. Sernovitz v. Dershaw, 127 A.3d 783, 789 (Pa. 2015); Commonwealth v. Neiman, 84 A.3d 603, 615 (Pa. 2013). “When an act of the legislature violates the single subject rule, all of its provisions are equally repugnant to the constitution, and, thus, equally void; so there is no basis to distinguish among the act's various sections to decide which of them offend the constitution to a greater or lesser degree.” Id. This Court, therefore, should find that H.R. 783 is unconstitutional in its entirety, because the Article III, § 3 deficiency infects it as a whole.

D. The Concurrent Resolution disenfranchised millions of Pennsylvania voters

The truth of Mr. Marks's testimony concerning the confusion of voters in this Commonwealth has now been borne out in reality.

Despite the language of H.R. 783 as passed by the General Assembly, neither the county boards of election nor the Secretary of the Commonwealth could prevent Pennsylvania electors from casting votes on Ballot Question No. 1. There were two constitutional amendments that voters saw on the April 26, 2016 ballot, and there was no significant difference in the number of votes on the two ballot questions—the total for Ballot Question No. 1 is 98.9% of that for the second question. Exh. 11.

Furthermore, the voters have spoken on the issue, and the Secretary has transmitted that voice over the World Wide Web. Id. They declined to alter the retirement age of judges and justices in Pennsylvania, with 1,211,231 electors voting against the ballot question. Ballot Question No. 1 has been rejected.

Given the facts before this Court—that it was not practical to remove Ballot Question No. 1 from voting machines and that notice of H.R. 783’s effect would not be uniform—the fact that so many votes occurred on April 26, 2016, indicates that the last-minute attempt to stop the vote on Ballot Question No. 1 was, in fact, ineffective. Exh. 10 at 69:1-4. The totals bear out Mr. Marks’s testimony that putting H.R. 783 into full effect created confusion: voting on the amendment was effectively undeterred by any means taken to provide notice to Pennsylvania’s electors. Exh. 11.

This confusion will only be compounded if millions of Pennsylvania electors confront the amendment to Article V, § 16(b) in a slightly revised guise in November of this year. The Pennsylvania Constitution forbids voting on the same amendment within five years, Art. XI, § 1, and no doubt voters will be confused that they are again confronted with a proposed amendment to the very same document that prohibits repeatedly placing an amendment on the ballot.

What will in fact occur if H.R. 783 continues in force and effect is the disenfranchisement of 1,211,231 Pennsylvanians, a problem of constitutional dimensions. Although this Court held that, “[a] fortiori, no elector has a right to vote on that question or a right to have their vote on that question count as part of the April General Primary election” pursuant to H.R. 783, the concurrent resolution passed too late to actually prevent these votes. Op. of April 20, 2016 (as amended) at 9 (emphasis on original). Quoting the Supreme Court of Kansas, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has recognized that the right to vote on a constitutional amendment—and, by extension, having such a vote counted—is a fundamental right:

The right is pervasive of other basic civil and political rights, and is the bed-rock of our free political system. Likewise, it is the right of every elector to vote on amendments to our Constitution in accordance with its provisions. This right is a right, not of force, but of sovereignty. It is every elector's portion of sovereign power to vote on questions submitted. Since the right of suffrage is a fundamental matter, any alleged restriction or infringement of that right strikes at the heart of orderly constitutional government, and must be carefully and meticulously scrutinized.

Bergdoll v. Kane, 731 A.2d 1261, 1269 (Pa. 1999) (quoting Moore v. Shanahan, 486 P.2d 506, 511 (Kan. 1971)). The voters have rejected Ballot Question No. 1, and now face having their votes nullified by H.R. 783, which will place the same constitutional amendment before the voters twice within the same year, in violation of Article XI, § 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution. As H.R. 783 now violates Article XI, § 1, it is unconstitutional and cannot stand.

V. Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, this Court should grant the summary relief requested and find H.R. 783 unconstitutional.

Respectfully submitted,

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF PENNSYLVANIA

The following are true and correct copies of joint resolutions of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania proposing two amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania. Consistent with the procedures prescribed by Article XI, Section 1 of the Constitution, the General Assembly first proposed the amendments during the 2013 session and approved them for a second time during the 2015 session of the legislature. As required by Article XI, Section 1 of the Constitution and statutory law, the Secretary of the Commonwealth has caused the proposed amendments to be published here.

Pursuant to law, the Secretary of the Commonwealth will submit the proposed amendments to the electors of Pennsylvania in the form of two ballot questions at the General Primary to be held on April 26, 2016. If a ballot question is approved by a majority of electors voting on it, the corresponding amendment becomes part of the Constitution.

Those parts of the joint resolutions that appear in bold print are the words of the Constitution that are proposed by the General Assembly for addition or deletion. If an amendment were approved, the words underlined would be added to the Constitution and the words in brackets (e.g., [Constitution]) would be deleted. The unbolded words would remain unchanged in the Constitution.

Following the proposed amendments is the text of the questions that will be placed on the ballot. Below each question is a "Plain English Statement" prepared by the Office of Attorney General, and published as required by law, indicating the purpose, limitations and effects of the ballot question upon the people of this Commonwealth.

Anyone who needs help reading this advertisement or who needs the text of the proposed amendments in an alternative format may call or write the Pennsylvania Department of State, Bureau of Commissions, Elections and Legislation, Room 210 North Office Building, Harrisburg, PA 17120, (717) 787-5280, ra-BCEL@pa.gov.

Pedro A. Cortés, Secretary of the Commonwealth

JOINT RESOLUTION 2015-1

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, further providing for compensation and retirement of justices, judges and justices of the peace.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania is proposed in accordance with Article XI:

That section 16(b) of Article V be amended to read:

§ 16. Compensation and retirement of justices, judges and justices of the peace.

(b) Justices, judges and justices of the peace shall be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of [70] 75 years. Former and retired justices, judges and justices of the peace shall receive such compensation as shall be provided by law. Except as provided by law, no salary, retirement benefit or other compensation, present or deferred, shall be paid to any justice, judge or justice of the peace who, under section 18 or under Article VI, is suspended, removed or barred from holding judicial office for conviction of a felony or misconduct in office or conduct which prejudices the proper administration of justice or brings the judicial office into disrepute.

Section 2. (a) Upon the first passage by the General Assembly of this proposed constitutional amendment, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall proceed immediately to comply with the advertising requirements of section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and shall transmit the required advertisements to two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers are published in sufficient time after passage of this proposed constitutional amendment.

(b) Upon the second passage by the General Assembly of this proposed constitutional amendment, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall proceed immediately to comply with the advertising requirements of section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and shall transmit the required advertisements to two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers are published in sufficient time after passage of this proposed constitutional amendment. The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall submit this proposed constitutional amendment to the qualified electors of this Commonwealth at the first primary, general or municipal election which meets the requirements of and is in conformance with section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and which occurs at least three months after the proposed constitutional amendment is passed by the General Assembly.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 1 AMENDING THE MANDATORY JUDICIAL RETIREMENT AGE

Ballot Question

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years, instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?

Plain English Statement of the Office of Attorney General

The purpose of the ballot question is to amend the Pennsylvania Constitution to require that justices, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years.

Presently, the Pennsylvania Constitution provides that justices, judges and justices of the peace be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70 years. Justices of the peace are currently referred to as magisterial district judges.

If the ballot question were to be approved, justices, judges and magisterial district judges would be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years rather than the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70 years.

This amendment to the mandatory retirement age would be applicable to all judges and justices in the Commonwealth, including the justices of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, judges of the Commonwealth Court, Superior Court, county courts of common pleas, community courts, municipal courts in the City of Philadelphia, and magisterial district judges.

The ballot question is limited in that it would not amend any other provisions of the Pennsylvania Constitution related to the qualification, election, tenure, or compensation of the justices, judges or magisterial district judges.

The effect of the ballot question would be to allow all justices, judges, and magisterial district judges to remain in office until the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years. This would permit all justices, judges, and magisterial district judges to serve an additional five years beyond the current required retirement age.

JOINT RESOLUTION 2015-2

Proposing integrated amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, eliminating the Traffic Court of Philadelphia.

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby resolves as follows:

Section 1. The following integrated amendments to the Constitution of Pennsylvania are proposed in accordance with Article XI:

(1) That section 1 of Article V be amended to read:

§ 1. Unified judicial system.

The judicial power of the Commonwealth shall be vested in a unified judicial system consisting of the Supreme Court, the Superior Court, the Commonwealth Court, courts of common pleas, community courts, municipal [and traffic] courts in the City of Philadelphia, such other courts as may be provided by law and justices of the peace. All courts and justices of the peace and their jurisdiction shall be in this unified judicial system.

(2) That the heading and subsection (c) of section 6 of Article V be amended to read:

§ 6. Community courts; Philadelphia Municipal Court [and Traffic Court].

(c) In the City of Philadelphia there shall be a municipal court [and a traffic court]. The number of judges and the jurisdiction [of each] shall be as provided by law. [These courts] This court shall exist so long as a community court has not been established or in the event one has been discontinued under this section.

(3) That subsection (d) of section 10 of Article V be amended to read:

§ 10. Judicial administration.

(d) The Chief Justice and president judges of all courts with seven or less judges shall be the justice or judge longest in continuous service on their respective courts; and in the event of his resignation from this position the justice or judge next longest in continuous service shall be the Chief Justice or president judge. The president judges of all other courts shall be selected for five-year terms by the members of their respective courts[, except that the president judge of the traffic court in the City of Philadelphia shall be appointed by the Governor]. A Chief Justice or president judge may resign such position and remain a member of the court. In the event of a tie vote for office of president judge in a court which elects its president judge, the Supreme Court shall appoint as president judge one of the judges receiving the highest number of votes.

(4) That subsection (b) of section 12 of Article V be amended to read:

§ 12. Qualifications of justices, judges and justices of the peace.

(b) [Judges of the traffic court in the City of Philadelphia and justices] Justices of the peace shall be members of the bar of the Supreme Court or shall complete a course of training and instruction in the duties of their respective offices and pass an examination prior to assuming office. Such courses and examinations shall be as provided by law.

(5) That subsection (a) of section 15 of Article V be amended to read:

§ 15. Tenure of justices, judges and justices of the peace.

(a) The regular term of office of justices and judges shall be ten years and the regular term of office for judges of the municipal court [and traffic court] in the City of Philadelphia and of justices of the peace shall be six years. The tenure of any justice or judge shall not be affected by changes in judicial districts or by reduction in the number of judges.

Section 2. (a) Upon the first passage by the General Assembly of these proposed constitutional amendments, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall proceed immediately to comply with the advertising requirements of section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and shall transmit the required advertisements to two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers are published in sufficient time after passage of these proposed constitutional amendments.

(b) Upon the second passage by the General Assembly of these proposed constitutional amendments, the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall proceed immediately to comply with the advertising requirements of section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and shall transmit the required advertisements to two newspapers in every county in which such newspapers are published in sufficient time after passage of these proposed constitutional amendments. The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall submit the proposed constitutional amendments under section 1 of this resolution to the qualified electors of this Commonwealth as a single ballot question at the first primary, general or municipal election which meets the requirements of and is in conformance with section 1 of Article XI of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and which occurs at least three months after the proposed constitutional amendments are passed by the General Assembly.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT 2 ABOLITION OF THE PHILADELPHIA TRAFFIC COURT

Ballot Question

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to abolish the Philadelphia Traffic Court?

Plain English Statement of the Office of Attorney General

The purpose of the ballot question is to amend the Pennsylvania Constitution to abolish the Traffic Court in the City of Philadelphia.

Presently, the Pennsylvania Constitution provides for the Traffic Court in the City of Philadelphia as part of the unified judicial system. If the ballot question were to be approved, the Traffic Court in the City of Philadelphia would be abolished by removing all references to the Traffic Court and the judges of the Traffic Court in the City of Philadelphia from the Pennsylvania Constitution.

Legislation enacted in 2013 transferred the functions performed by the Traffic Court to the Philadelphia Municipal Court. As a result, violations of the Vehicle Code previously adjudicated by the Traffic Court are presently being adjudicated by the Philadelphia Municipal Court. The proposed amendment would officially abolish the Traffic Court by removing all references to the Traffic Court and its judges from the Pennsylvania Constitution.

This ballot question is limited to whether the Traffic Court in the City of Philadelphia should be abolished. The ballot question would not amend any other provisions of the Pennsylvania Constitution beyond the removal of all references to the Traffic Court and its judges.

The effect of the ballot question would be to abolish the Traffic Court in the City of Philadelphia. As discussed above, legislation enacted in 2013 transferred the functions of the Traffic Court to the Philadelphia Municipal Court. This amendment would officially abolish the Traffic Court by removing all references to the Traffic Court and its judges from the Pennsylvania Constitution.

I. INTRODUCTION

The Pennsylvania Senate Majority Caucus, Senate President Pro Tempore Joe Scarnati, and Senate Majority Leader Jake Corman (collectively, the “Senate”) ask this Court to exercise its plenary powers, on an expedited basis, over an electoral issue of immediate public importance regarding the forthcoming April 26, 2016 primary election. Specifically, this Court should immediately invoke its plenary jurisdiction and strike the following terms and phrases from the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1:

~~Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years[.], instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?~~

The above terms and phrases must be stricken from the Ballot Question in advance of the April 26, 2016 primary election for at least the following three reasons.

First, and perhaps most importantly, the terms and phrases sought to be stricken are confusing, distracting and misleading to electors. The insertion of the phrase “of the Supreme Court” after “justices” makes it incorrectly appear as if the proposed constitutional amendment may also impact or affect justices of the United States Supreme Court. This is not the case, and it is possible that the average elector may not understand this important distinction when voting.

Further, the phrase “known as magisterial district judges,” which appears right after “judges and justices of the peace” makes it appear that the proposed amendment does not apply to judges of courts of common pleas, the Superior Court, and the Commonwealth Court.

Second, the terms and phrases sought to be stricken are inconsistent with the proposed constitutional amendment as drafted, voted on, and approved by the General Assembly in two consecutive sessions. The Joint Resolution approved by both houses of the General Assembly simply stated: “Justices, judges and justices of the peace shall be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of [70] 75 years.” As currently drafted, the Ballot Question is not limited to, and does not mirror, this legislatively approved language.

Third, and finally, the terms and phrases sought to be stricken are nothing more than superfluous and gratuitous commentary, which is more appropriately addressed in the Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General that accompanies the Ballot Question. Past ballot questions in this Commonwealth have been historically limited to what the new law would be if amended, not what the current state of the law may be at the time of the proposed amendment. To the extent this additional information may be relevant to the elector, it can be found and provided for in the Plain English Statement.

II. JURISDICTIONAL STATEMENT

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court has the ability to hear this electoral matter of immediate public importance pursuant to the plenary powers conferred upon it by Pa.R.A.P. 3309. These powers have been preserved in the Pennsylvania Constitution. See Pa. Const. Art. V, §§ 2(a), 10(a); 42 Pa.C.S. § 502.

The propriety of the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1, set to appear on the April 26, 2016 primary election ballot, requires the Court's expedited assessment because of the negative and adverse impact the question, as currently drafted, may have on electors. Given the short time period before the April 26, 2016 primary election, expedited review of this electoral matter is warranted and prudent in order ensure that the Ballot Question, as amended or clarified, remains on the ballot for the primary election, as mandated by the Pennsylvania Constitution and the Joint Resolution passed by the General Assembly proposing the constitutional amendment.

Although members of this Court may have an interest or be impacted by the proposed Ballot Question, the rule of necessity mandates that if all of the members of a tribunal may be subject to recusal, then the tribunal must consider the matter regardless of any personal interest of its members. See Driscoll v. Corbett, 69 A.3d 197, 207 (Pa. 2013) (concluding that rule of necessity required Supreme Court to decide judges' constitutional challenge to amendment that set mandatory retirement for judges at age 70). Otherwise, the public would be denied a decision in the matter. See id.

III. CONCISE STATEMENT OF FACTS

As required by Article XI, Section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the General Assembly approved in the 2013-2014 Regular Session, and again in the 2015-2016 Regular Session, a Joint Resolution proposing to amend the Pennsylvania Constitution to increase the mandatory judicial retirement age.

Specifically, the Joint Resolution approved by the General Assembly in two consecutive sessions proposes to amend Section 16(b) of Article V of the Pennsylvania Constitution, titled “Compensation and retirement of justices, judges and justices of the peace,” to provide: “Justices, judges and justices of the peace shall be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of [70] 75 years.” HB 79 (2013-2014 Regular Session) & HB 90 (2015-2016 Regular Session), attached as Exhibits B & C, respectively.

Consistent with Article XI, Section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the Joint Resolution further provides that following the second passage of the proposed amendment by the General Assembly:

The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall submit this proposed constitutional amendment to the qualified electors of this Commonwealth at the first primary, general or municipal election which . . . occurs at least three months after the proposed constitutional amendment is passed by the General Assembly.

HB 79 (2013-2014 Regular Session) & HB 90 (2015-2016 Regular Session).

In November 2015, the General Assembly approved the proposed constitutional amendment for a second time. See HB 90 (2015-2016 Regular Session). As required by the Election Code and the Joint Resolution approved by the General Assembly, the Secretary of State prepared the ballot question for the proposed constitutional amendment to be voted on by the electors at the April 26, 2016 primary election. See 25 P.S. § 3010; HB 90 (2015-2016 Regular Session).

The Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1, as prepared by the Secretary of State for the April 26, 2016 primary election, states:

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years, instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?

Ballot Question, attached as Exhibit A.

As required by the Election Code, it is believed and therefore averred that the Office of Attorney General approved the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1, as prepared by the Secretary of State. See 25 P.S. § 2755. The Office of Attorney General also drafted the Plain English Statement to accompany the Ballot Question, as required by the Election Code. 25 P.S. § 2621.1; see Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General, attached as Exhibit A.

IV. ISSUE SOUGHT TO BE REVIEWED

The Senate seeks to have this Court review, on an expedited basis, an electoral issue of immediate public importance in advance of the April 26, 2016 primary election in order to strike the following confusing surplusage and inconsistent language from the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1:

~~Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years[.]; instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?~~

Ballot Question, attached as Exhibit A.

V. JUSTIFICATION FOR INVOKING COURT'S PLENARY POWERS

Exercise of this Court's plenary powers is necessary and of immediate public importance in order to correct and strike, in advance of the April 26, 2016 primary election, certain confusing surplusage and inconsistent language from the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1.

The Ballot Question, as drafted by the Secretary of State and approved by the Office of Attorney General, must be corrected and reformed prior to the April 26, 2016 primary election for at least the following three reasons.

First, several of the terms and phrases included in the Ballot Question can be construed as confusing, distracting, and misleading to electors. For instance, the insertion of the phrase “of the Supreme Court” after “justices” gives the appearance that the proposed amendment may impact justices of the United States Supreme Court, and not simply justices of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. This is not the case, and it is likely that the average elector may not fully appreciate this important distinction. This is acutely so in light of the recent vacancy on the United States Supreme Court created by the passing of Justice Antonin Scalia, where many of the news reports prominently featured his age. See, e.g., Pete Williams and Elizabeth Chuck, Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia Has Died at Age 79, NBCNews.com (Feb. 14, 2016).<sup>1</sup>

Likewise, the insertion of “known as magisterial district judges” and the inclusion of “instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70” are confusing, distracting and unnecessarily elongate the Ballot Question. For example, the “known as magisterial district judges” phrase makes it appear as if the preceding “judges and justices” phrase refers only to magisterial district judges, which, in turn, makes it appear as if judges of the courts of common pleas, Superior Court, and Commonwealth Court are not subject to the constitutional change. It is precisely to avoid this kind of confusion that the Election Code compels the Secretary of State to prepare the ballot question for proposed constitutional amendments “in brief form,” which the Ballot Question as currently drafted clearly is not. See 25 P.S. § 3010.

Second, many of the terms and phrases included in the Ballot Question are entirely inconsistent with the Joint Resolution drafted, voted on, and approved by the General Assembly in two consecutive sessions. The Joint Resolution approved by the General Assembly was concise and to the point, providing: “Justices, judges and justices of the peace shall be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of [70] 75 years.” HB 79 (2013-2014 Regular Session) & HB 90 (2015-2016 Regular Session). In the Joint Resolution, the General Assembly specifically directed that, following the second passage of the proposed amendment, “[t]he Secretary of the Commonwealth shall submit this proposed constitutional amendment to the qualified electors of this Commonwealth at the first primary, general or municipal election[.]” Id. (emphasis added).

Yet, despite a clear directive from the General Assembly to submit the proposed constitutional amendment to the electors as drafted by the General Assembly, the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment I submitted by the Secretary of State and approved by the Office of Attorney General includes several additional terms and phrases not included in the Joint Resolution, such as “of the Supreme Court”; “known as magisterial district judges”; and “instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70.” The Joint Resolution drafted, voted on, and approved by the General Assembly in two consecutive sessions did not include these additional terms, and neither should the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1.

Third, and finally, many of the terms and phrases included in the Ballot Question are nothing more than superfluous and gratuitous commentary that is beyond the scope of the Ballot Question, and which is more appropriately addressed in the Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General. Indeed, the insertion of defining terms such as “of the Supreme Court” or “known as magisterial district judges” in the Ballot Question is unnecessary and distracting, especially when these terms are appropriately defined and described in the Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General accompanying the Ballot Question. See Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General, attached as Exhibit A.

Moreover, the insertion of the phrase “instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70” in the Ballot Question is equally unnecessary and distracting, considering that such a description of the current state of the law has not been historically included in ballot questions. Indeed, past ballot questions in this Commonwealth have traditionally limited questions for proposed constitutional amendments to what the new law would be if amended, not what the current state of the law may be at the time of the proposed amendment. Below are examples of several such ballot questions approved by this Court in which the current state of law is neither mentioned nor addressed.

- “Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to disallow bail when the proof is evident or presumption great that the accused committed an offense for which the maximum penalty is life imprisonment or that no condition or combination of conditions other than imprisonment of the accused will reasonably assure the safety of any person and the community?” Grimaud v. Com., 865 A.2d 835, 841 (Pa. 2005).
- “Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to provide that the Commonwealth shall have the same right to a trial by jury in criminal cases as does the accused?” Com. v. Tharp, 754 A.2d 1251, 1252 (Pa. 2000).
- “Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require a unanimous recommendation of the Board of Pardons before the Governor can pardon or commute the sentence of an individual sentenced in a criminal case to death or life imprisonment, to require only a majority vote of the Senate to approve the Governor's appointments to the Board, and to substitute a crime victim for an attorney and a corrections expert for a penologist as Board members?” Pennsylvania Prison Soc. v. Com., 776 A.2d 971, 974 (Pa. 2001).
- “Shall Proposal 7 on the JUDICIARY, adopted by the Constitutional Convention, establishing a unified judicial system, providing directly or through Supreme Court rules, for the qualifications, selection, tenure, removal, discipline and retirement of, and prohibiting certain activities by justices, judges, and justices of the peace, and related matters, be approved?” Stander v. Kelley, 250 A.2d 474, 480 (Pa. 1969).

To the extent that an elector may wish to learn about, or to be educated on, the current state of the law, the elector need look no further than the Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General that accompanies the Ballot Question.

Again, the Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General is the appropriate setting to provide such additional information and commentary, and, in this case, the Plain English Statement more than sufficiently provides that supplemental information to the elector. See Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General, attached as Exhibit A.

Consistent with Article XI, Section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution, the Joint Resolution approved by the General Assembly in two consecutive sessions mandated that the Ballot Question be submitted to “the qualified electors of this Commonwealth at the first primary, general or municipal election which . . . occurs at least three months after the proposed constitutional amendment is passed by the General Assembly.” HB 79 (2013-2014 Regular Session) & HB 90 (2015-2016 Regular Session). Thus, the proposed changes and revisions to the Ballot Question raised herein must be directed by this Court, implemented by the Secretary of State, and approved by the Office of Attorney General on an expedited basis in order to ensure that the Ballot Question appears on the April 26, 2016 primary election ballot, as mandated by the General Assembly.

VI. CONCLUSION AND RELIEF SOUGHT

The electoral issue raised herein is not only an issue of immediate public importance, but, for the foregoing reasons, requires expedited review by this Court in order to ensure that the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment

1 is corrected and amended in time for the fast-approaching April 26, 2016 primary election. The Senate thus respectfully request that this Court grant this Application and strike the confusing surplusage and inconsistent language cited herein from the Ballot Question for Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1, and direct that the strikes be completed, implemented, and approved in advance of the April 26, 2016 primary election.

Respectfully submitted,

Proposed Constitutional Amendment 1 Amending the Mandatory Judicial Retirement Age

Ballot Question

Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to require that justices of the Supreme Court, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years, instead of the current requirement that they be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70?

YES

NO

Plain English Statement of Office of Attorney General

The purpose of the ballot question is to amend the Pennsylvania Constitution to require that justices, judges and justices of the peace (known as magisterial district judges) be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years.

Presently, the Pennsylvania Constitution provides that justices, judges and justices of the peace be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70 years. Justices of the peace are currently referred to as magisterial district judges.

If the ballot question were to be approved, justices, judges and magisterial district judges would be retired on the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years rather than the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 70 years.

This amendment to the mandatory retirement age would be applicable to all judges and justices in the Commonwealth, including the justices of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, judges of the Commonwealth Court, Superior Court, county courts of common pleas, community courts, municipal courts in the City of Philadelphia, and magisterial district judges.

The ballot question is limited in that it would not amend any other provisions of the Pennsylvania Constitution related to the qualification, election, tenure, or compensation of the justices, judges or magisterial district judges.

The effect of the ballot question would be to allow all justices, judges, and magisterial district judges to remain in office until the last day of the calendar year in which they attain the age of 75 years. This would permit all justices, judges, and magisterial district judges to serve an additional five years beyond the current required retirement age.

1 MR. BOCHETTO: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you. I'd
2 like to call Lisa Deeley.

3 (Whereupon, Lisa Marie Deeley was sworn.)

4 THE COURT REPORTER: Please spell your last name.

5 THE WITNESS: D, as in David, E-E-L-E-Y.

6 THE COURT REPORTER: Thank you.

7 MR. BOCHETTO: May I proceed, Your Honor?

8 THE COURT: Please, sir.

9 MR. BOCHETTO: Thank you.

10 DIRECT EXAMINATION

11 BY MR. BOCHETTO:

12 Q Ms. Deeley, would you please state your full name?

13 A Lisa Marie Deeley, D-E-E-L-E-Y.

14 Q And are you employed?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Explain to the Court how so.

17 A I am the city commissioner of Philadelphia.

18 Q Is that an elected position?

19 A Yes.

20 Q When were you elected?

21 A I was elected in November and sworn into office in 22 January.

23 Q And briefly would you describe your 24 responsibilities as a city commissioner?

25 A Oversee and administer the elections in

1 retirement.

2 Q Have the ballots for the Philadelphia voting
3 machines been printed yet?

4 A The voting machine face; yes.

5 Q Okay. And how many voting machines are there in 6 Philadelphia?

7 A 3517.

8 Q And with respect to the disbursal or the 9 distribution of those machines to the voting places, when 10 does that process begin?

11 A That process began on the 15th, and it is in 12 progress right now.

13 MR. BOCHETTO: I'd like to approach the witness, if 14 I might, Your Honor, to just show her what I'm going to mark
15 as Exhibit 1.

16 THE COURT: You can show it to respondents'
17 counsel.

18 MR. BOCHETTO: Yes, I have previously, Your Honor.

19 MR. HAVERSTICK: We've seen it, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay. You may approach.

21 MR. BOCHETTO: Permission --

22 MS. KOTULA: May I see it, Your Honor?

23 THE COURT: I thought I said respondents, plural.

24 MR. BOCHETTO: (Handing.)

25 MS. KOTULA: (Persuing document.)

1 retirement for judges, is that how the ballot question
2 appears on each of the 3500-plus voting machines in 3 Philadelphia County?

4 A Yes.

5 Q Okay. And of the 3500, how many of the machines
6 have actually been installed at the voting places?

7 A 1500 or so, probably more since they started again
8 today.

9 Q Have you been notified of the passage of the 10 concurrent resolution identified as HR 783?

11 A Yes.

12 Q And do you understand what that purports to 13 instruct you to do?

14 A Yes.

15 Q Generally speaking, would you describe what your 16 understanding of it would be?

17 A Well, we would -- we'd have to wait to be 18 instructed by the Department of State, but we would then be 19 asked to sticker it or somehow let the voters not be able to 20 vote for it -- vote on it.

21 Q Is there any way that you can at this stage and at 22 this late date remove question number one from the 3500
23 machines that have already been printed up in Philadelphia?

24 A We could not remove it, no.

25 Q Okay. Could you sticker it?

1           A       Stickering would be a huge undertaking. We would
2 have to get a special size sticker because it is an awfully
3 large question, and then we would have to cease sending out
4 the machines. We'd have to take them all apart, take the 5 ballot face off, sticker, then do a lamp test to make sure
6 that everything was aligned. And then we would have to send 7 technicians out into the polling locations to do the same,
8 and that would require us to have to gain entrance or access
9 into those polling locations as well.

10          Q       From a practical standpoint, is it possible to do
11 that between now and the 26th?

12          A       From a practical standpoint, no.

13          Q       Okay. As part of your responsibilities, Ms.
14 Deeley, do you also supervise absentee ballots?

15          A       Yes.

16          Q       Have absentee ballots been sent out regarding the 17 April 26th, 2016 primary election?

18          A       Yes.

19          Q       Did those absentee ballots contain proposed 20 constitutional amendment number one?

21          A       Yes.

22          Q       How many absentee ballots, approximately, have been 23 sent out so far out of Philadelphia County?

24          A       About 5,000 maybe.

25          Q       And of those 5,000, do you track which ones of them

1 are for military?

2 A Yes.

3 Q Of the 5,000, how many are for the military?

4 A I couldn't say for sure, but I'm -- I'm going to 5 say based on my recollection about 2200.

6 Q 2200, or almost 50 percent of the 5,000 that have 7 been sent out so far are for persons serving in the federal 8 military. Is that correct?

9 A Correct.

10 Q Have any absentee ballots been returned?

11 A Yes.

12 Q Do you track how many?

13 A Yes.

14 Q As of today's date, approximately how many have 15 been returned?

16 A I would say about 2500, approximately. I couldn't 17 say for certain.

18 Q And of those 2500 ballots that have been returned,
19 how many of them, if you know, or if you can estimate, are 20 from federal military service people?

21 A I don't -- I don't know. Maybe about 1300 would be 22 my guess.

23 Q Approximately?

24 A Approximate, yeah. I have the exact numbers, but I
25 don't have them with me.

1 Q Okay. Well, when you say my guess, is that more of 2 an estimate as opposed to a guess?

3 A Oh, it's not a guess. I apologize. It's an 4 estimate.

5 Q Okay. And you're certain that many hundreds of 6 military absentee ballots have been already returned for this
7 April 26th, 2016 primary election process. Is that correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q Now when you get an absentee ballot, whether it's 10 from a military serviceperson or otherwise, do you have a 11 uniform procedure that you follow with respect to the 12 handling and later the canvassing --

13 A Yes.

14 Q -- of those ballots? Would you briefly describe it
15 for the Court?

16 A They're received and put into a secure location
17 until such time as the polls close. And then they're opened 18 -- well, first they're verified to make sure that any of the 19 civilian ballots were not voted by a person. And then
20 they're scanned and counted into the -- the totals.

21 Q Let me just slow it down just a bit, if I may.
22 When you receive the absentee ballots, do they go into a safe
23 and secure location?

24 A Yes.

25 Q In Philadelphia County?

1 A Yes.

2 Q And where is that?

3 A Room 142 in the county board of election, City
4 Hall.

5 Q And are they kept safely and securely until such
6 time as they are to be canvassed?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And does anybody have the authority to come in and 9 remove them or to otherwise disturb the safe and secure
10 nature of those ballots?

11 A No.

12 Q When is it -- and for this April 26th, 2016
13 election, when is it that those ballots will be canvassed?

14 A After the polls close.

15 Q And that's on?

16 A On April 26th, after 8 p.m.

17 Q Okay. And as more and more ballots are received
18 each day, they are all put in the same spot?

19 A Yes.

20 Q And is there any discretion that you have as the 21 commissioner as to whether to canvass those ballots once
22 received?

23 A No.

24 Q You're under a duty to canvass them, aren't you?

25 A Yes.

1           A     Certainly. I was elected judge of elections at the 2 age of 18 for my polling location. And then I was elected
3 Democratic committee person at the age of 21, and it's a
4 position that I still serve for 30 years.

5           Q     I wasn't going to ask you just how many years you
6 served in those capacities. Final question, the --

7           THE COURT: So you've been for three years now
8 involved in elections?

9           MR. BOCHETTO: That was going to be my question.

10          THE COURT: I thought that was going to be your 11 question, Mr. Bochetto.

12          MR. BOCHETTO: Exactly, Judge.

13 BY MR. BOCHETTO:

14          Q     Final question, the replica poster that 15 Mr. Haverstick referred you to in terms of being able to post
16 an alternate replica poster, as we sit here today, has any 17 such alternate poster been printed or prepared?

18          A     No.

19          Q     Would it be possible -- strike possible. Is it
20 practical for you to be able to get that redone and then 21 reposted between now and election day?

22          A     It is not practical.

23          MR. BOCHETTO: Thank you.

24          THE COURT: Ms. Deeley, I have a question before
25 you -- before you're released. You had indicated that there

1 were -- I think your testimony was that there are 3,517
2 machines for the county?

3 THE WITNESS: Yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: How many polling places are we talking
5 about?

6 THE WITNESS: About 1300.

7 THE COURT: 1300 polling places?

8 THE WITNESS: Yeah. Some of them have two
9 machines. Some of them have three.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much.

11 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

12 THE COURT: Is the witness released, Mr. Bochetto?

13 MR. BOCHETTO: Yes, Your Honor. Thank you.

14 THE COURT: Mr. Haverstick?

15 MR. HAVERSTICK: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Ms. Kotula?

17 MS. KOTULA: Yes, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: You are released. Thank you for your
19 testimony.

20 Mr. Bochetto, please call your next witness.

21 MR. BOCHETTO: The next witness will be an employee
22 of the Department of State, Jonathan Marks.

23 THE COURT: Mr. Marks, please approach.

24 (Whereupon, Jonathan Marks was sworn.)

1 BY MR. BOCHETTO:

2 Q Mr. Marks, would you state your full name for the 3 record please?

4 A Sure. Jonathan Marks, M-A-R-K-S.

5 Q How are you employed?

6 A I am the commissioner of the Bureau of Commissions,
7 Elections and Legislation at the Department of State.

8 Q Would you briefly tell the Court your
9 responsibilities in that regard?

10 A My responsibilities as they relate to elections, we 11 oversee the elections in the Commonwealth. We work with the 12 county boards of elections to facilitate, help them
13 administer those elections. We also oversee campaign finance
14 filing at the state level, lobbying disclosure, notaries. We 15 do a lot of things in addition to elections, but I think what 16 most people pay attention to is the election administration
17 piece.

18 Q And do your responsibilities include administering
19 the primary election on April 26th, 2016?

20 A They do, yes.

21 Q And all of the things that lead up to and are a
22 part of that process?

23 A That's correct. Yes.

24 Q Now, you were in the courtroom when Ms. Deeley
25 testified, correct?

1           A     I was, yes.

2           Q     And you heard her testify as to the number of 3 absentee ballots that they've sent out and the number of 4 absentee ballots that they've already received back. Is that
5 correct?

6           A     I did, yes.

7           Q     And you receive daily reports from the counties as 8 to the status of absentee ballots, don't you?

9           A     We -- we receive -- we actually pull statistics out
10 of the department's Statewide Uniform Registry of Electors, 11 which is the database through which counties process their 12 absentee ballots. So we don't receive it directly from the 13 counties. The counties input it into the database, and then 14 we can view the data.

15          Q     All right. I guess stated another way, you're able 16 to track virtually on a daily basis the receipt by each of 17 the counties of completed absentee ballots, correct?

18          A     That is correct.

19          Q     And have you done so leading up to this primary
20 election on a statewide basis?

21          A     Yes.

22          Q     As we sit here today, do you know approximately 23 statewide how many absentee ballots have been returned to the 24 counties?

25          A     As of yesterday, the number was over 32,000

1 statewide.

2 Q Okay. And do you have some sense of how many total
3 absentee ballots have been sent out by the counties?

4 A Yes. Around 98,000 total.

5 Q As of today?

6 A As of yesterday afternoon.

7 Q Okay. And if I could just ask you to step up just 8 a little bit closer to that microphone.

9 A Sorry. Sometimes I get too close and --

10 Q That's okay. Make sure everybody can hear.

11 A How's that?

12 Q With respect to those absentee ballots, you have an 13 understanding of how each of the counties are to -- to treat
14 those absentee ballots once received. Isn't that correct?

15 A I do, yes.

16 Q Would you describe generally for the Court what 17 your understanding is?

18 A When the absentee -- or when the county boards of 19 elections receive the -- the absentee ballots back from the 20 voters, they are to keep those ballots secure for delivery to 21 the -- to the polling places prior to election day. And then 22 those ballots are canvassed and counted at the -- at the 23 polling place on election night.

24 Q And by the word canvassing, that's kind of a term
25 of art in the election world, isn't it?

1           A     It is. It includes -- it includes more than just
2 counting the ballots. It also includes the challenge process
3 that Commissioner Deeley referred to earlier. Basically the 4 ballots, after the close of polls, are opened. And that's a
5 transparent process. Watchers can be in attendance to watch
6 that process and challenge an absentee voter if there's 7 reason to do so.

8           Q     Now, your understanding of your responsibilities on 9 behalf of the Department of State or the Secretary of the 10 Commonwealth is that those absentee ballots once received by 11 the counties must be put into a secure position. Is that
12 correct?

13          A     That's correct. Yes.

14          Q     And does each of the counties have a duty to make 15 sure that those ballots are then available to be canvassed on 16 election day?

17          A     They do, yes. They're statutorily mandated.

18          Q     And do you -- do you make sure that that statutory 19 mandate is complied with by each of the counties?

20          A     Yes. We -- we do remind the counties of their --
21 of their various duties. You know, ultimately the authority
22 rests with them, but we do remind them of their statutory 23 duties.

24          Q     So that with respect to the 33,000 or so absentee
25 ballots that have been received by the various counties so

1 far, you have every expectation that those ballots and 2 whatever else comes in between now and the 26th will be
3 safely stored, canvassed on the day of the election, and 4 counted towards the vote count statewide. Is that correct?

5 A I do. And to be clear, the regular civilian
6 absentee ballots have to be returned by the Friday before the 7 election, so this Friday. But yes, I do have every 8 expectation that the counties will secure them, canvass --
9 send them to the polling place, canvass them, and tabulate
10 them.

11 Q And, Mr. Marks, with all due respect to the many 12 things that I'm sure you do have discretion with in 13 performing your responsibilities, with regard to making sure
14 that those absentee ballots are canvassed and the votes
15 tallied, you have no discretion, do you?

16 A That's correct. Yes.

17 Q You must do that. Isn't that right?

18 A That's correct.

19 Q You are statutorily required to do that. Isn't 20 that correct?

21 A That is correct. Yes.

22 Q If you were not to do it, you would be violating 23 your own statute?

24 A That's correct. Yes.

25 Q Okay. Do you have an understanding of HR 783?

1           A     I do.

2           Q     And what's your understanding of that?

3           A     My understanding is that the -- essentially HR 783
4 would postpone the ballot question until the November
5 election; there would be additional advertisements in advance
6 of the November election. And it also directs the Secretary
7 not to tally any votes that may be cast on the ballot
8 question at this upcoming April primary.

9           Q     So is your understanding that HR 783 would require
10 you to -- I don't want to use the word ignore, but let's use
11 the word not fulfill your otherwise statutory duty to tally
12 and count towards the vote those 33 absentee ballots that 13 have already been received by the counties?

14          A     That is my understanding. Yes.

15          Q     In fact, you're specifically directed not to 16 conduct a canvass or a -- or a vote tally. Isn't that
17 correct?

18          A     That's correct. Yes.

19          Q     Even though all those absentee ballots have already 20 been received. Is that correct?

21          A     That's correct. Yes.

22          Q     And I take it, Mr. Marks, that of the other 57,000
23 ballots that are still out there that have not yet been 24 returned, there's no practical way for you to recall those 25 ballots, is there?

1 A At this point in the process, no.

2 Q So in your experience, each of the counties every
3 day between now and the 26th are going to be receiving more
4 and more absentee ballots. Isn't that correct?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Would you just remind the Court how long you've
7 worked for the Secretary of the Commonwealth in the election
8 process?

9 A I've -- I've worked actually in some capacity or 10 another since 2002.

11 Q So you're highly experienced in these areas?

12 THE COURT: I can tell you we've known Mr. Marks
13 for a long time.

14 MR. BOCHETTO: Very well.

15 THE WITNESS: Yes. I'm officially old now.

16 THE COURT: So am I, Mr. Marks.

17 MR. BOCHETTO: I wanted to throw you some kudos,
18 Mr. Marks.

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 THE WITNESS: Thank you.

21 MR. BOCHETTO: Thank you, Judge.

22 THE COURT: You're welcome.

23 Cross-examination, Mr. Haverstick.

24 MR. HAVERSTICK: Thank you, Your Honor.

25

CROSS-EXAMINATION

1 attached to that exhibit?

2 A There is, yes.

3 Q And in that e-mail, could you please read the 4 second sentence?

5 A "As you may know, the Court has ruled in the 6 judicial age ballot question litigation; therefore, I am
7 attaching to this e-mail a copy of the Secretary of the 8 Commonwealth's official ballot certification for the 2016
9 General Primary."

10 Q So in the memo itself, the reference to pending --
11 litigation pending in the Supreme Court and the Commonwealth
12 Court, what is that reference to?

13 A That would be a reference to primarily objections
14 cases that were still pending in the courts.

15 Q And there were other objection cases pending at the 16 time this certification was sent out?

17 A That's correct. Yes.

18 Q Going back to absentee ballots, I just want to be 19 clear. Can you go through for us -- the first deadline for 20 absentee ballots to be sent to electors that have requested
21 an absentee ballot was when?

22 A The very first deadline is March 7th. That's the 23 deadline for counties to deliver to military and overseas
24 civilian voters who are in a remote or isolated area of the 25 world. That's the deadline for counties to deliver ballots

1 he's on the stand, just ask my additional questions of him if
2 there's no objection?

3 THE COURT: I'll ask you to -- I -- personally I'd 4 probably prefer that you defer it until your case in chief
5 just so we're keeping the record very clear.

6 Mr. Haverstick?

7 MR. HAVERSTICK: Your Honor, it was going to be a
8 question I had when cross concluded. I may have direct 9 examination that I think is beyond the scope of 10 Mr. Bochetto's direct. And my assumption was we were going 11 to, as cumbersome as it is, put him on for a question or two 12 in that -- in that fashion.

13 THE COURT: I appreciate, Ms. Kotula, your effort
14 to expedite. But I think for purposes of today, we'll -- 15 we'll keep it in the ordinary course.

16 MS. KOTULA: Thank you. That's all the questions I
17 have, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Mr. Bochetto, any redirect?

19 MR. BOCHETTO: Very brief, Your Honor.

20 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

21 BY MR. BOCHETTO:

22 Q Mr. Marks, you were asked a series of questions in 23 your cross-examination about some court challenges that have 24 taken place already with respect to the April 26th primary
25 election and at least one that's still pending in the Supreme

1 Court, correct?

2 A That's correct. Yes.

3 Q And all of those challenges have been conducted
4 according to statutory procedures that are already set forth
5 in the Election Code. Isn't that correct?

6 A That's correct. Yes.

7 Q There's not one of those challenges that isn't
8 already part of the existing legislative -- or -- strike
9 that; elective code schema. Isn't that correct?

10 A That's correct. Yes.

11 Q Whereas there's nothing in the Election Code as you
12 understand it -- putting aside HR 783 for the moment, there's 13 nothing in the Election Code as we sit here today that would 14 allow you to ignore the votes being cast for constitutional 15 amendment number one which is on the ballot at least as of 16 today. Isn't that correct?

17 A That's correct. Yes.

18 Q So that HR 783 would change your understanding and 19 your responsibilities under the Election Code. Isn't that 20 correct?

21 A On some level, yes.

22 Q Well, on the level of whether you carry out your 23 responsibilities --

24 A That's correct.

25 Q -- to count the vote, right?

1 advertisement. Prices were a little cheaper in 2014, but not
2 much.

3 Q And if this HR 783 were to be upheld, you'd have to 4 re-advertise, wouldn't you?

5 A Yes. House Resolution 783 I believe directs the 6 Secretary to re-advertise prior to the November election.

7 Q And do you have a reasonable expectation of what
8 that would cost?

9 A I would expect it's going to be somewhere between 10 1.3 and 1.4 million dollars.

11 Q And that would be 1.3 or 1.4 million dollars which 12 would be unnecessary if HR 783 does not take effect. Is that
13 correct?

14 A That's correct. Yes.

15 Q As we sit here today, your advertising
16 responsibilities and expense have been completed?

17 A That's correct.

18 MR. BOCHETTO: Thank you.

19 THE COURT: Mr. Marks, thank you for your testimony
20 you've given so far. I regret to inform you, you are not 21 released, so please --

22 THE WITNESS: Okay.

23 THE COURT: -- stick around.

24 THE WITNESS: I will -- I will be here as long as I
25 need to be.

1 Q Now, since we all talked about it, you're aware
2 that there's been an order requiring remedial measures be
3 taken with respect to that candidate?

4 A That's correct. Yes.

5 Q So on that very specific ballot, some action will 6 have to be taken to either obscure Mr. Vodvarka's name or 7 otherwise alert voters that their votes won't count for that 8 candidate?

9 A Right. That's our expectation. Yes.

10 Q It hasn't happened yet?

11 A Correct. I -- and as we noted earlier, there's 12 still a pending appeal regarding Joe Vodvarka. I don't 13 know -- I could not testify, though, to what Philadelphia may 14 have done up to this point.

15 Q Fair enough. Would you agree with me that a
16 similar remedial measure could be taken to obscure ballot
17 question number one or otherwise alert the voting populace
18 that ballot question number one is not subject to be voted 19 upon?

20 A Theoretically that is -- that is possible. Again,
21 it's -- it's -- you're talking about degrees a week before
22 the election. One county may be able to accommodate it;
23 another county may not.

24 Q Understood. We're done with that one.

25 Mr. Marks, true or false, registered voters in the

1           A     I did, yes.

2           Q     Do you -- is it your testimony today that -- do you
3 agree that all the factual averments that were made in that
4 answer were true and correct to the best of your knowledge?

5           A     I do agree, yes.

6           Q     I want to talk a little bit about the status of the 7 ballot question. Are you familiar at this point in time with 8 the election preparation that's going on in the 67 counties?

9           A     I am. Not intimately, but certainly at a high 10 level.

11          Q     Is the department in communication with the 12 counties?

13          A     We are -- we are in communication. We've been in 14 regular communication for several weeks now.

15          Q     In Pennsylvania, how many precincts do we have?

16          A     The current count is 9,164, I believe.

17          Q     And I -- I believe there was testimony before about 18 the number of voting machines in Philadelphia, but do you
19 know the number of voting machines in Pennsylvania?

20          A     There's approximately 25,000 spread out across the 21 Commonwealth.

22          Q     When did the Secretary certify the -- do the 23 initial ballot certification for the 2016 primary?

24          A     I believe the date was March 23rd.

25          Q     And did that certification include the ballot

1 question regarding the judicial retirement age?

2 A It did, yes.

3 Q Besides that ballot question, is there another
4 ballot question on the primary ballot?

5 A There is. There's a ballot question regarding the 6 abolition -- or abolishing the Philadelphia Traffic Court.

7 Q Is that ballot question impacted in any way by 8 litigation?

9 A No. And our instructions to the counties have been 10 clear in that regard, this does not impact that ballot
11 question in any way.

12 Q Has the Secretary amended his ballot certification
13 to remove the judicial age question as a result of HR 783
14 being passed by the General Assembly?

15 A He has not.

16 Q Why?

17 A Shortly after HR 783 was -- was passed, we became 18 aware that there was imminent litigation.

19 Q And did -- did the Secretary advise the counties of 20 that?

21 A Yes. The Secretary did advise the counties, and we 22 advised the counties to maintain the status quo for the 23 moment.

24 Q And what do you mean by maintain the status quo?

25 A That -- well, more directly to leave the -- leave

1 the ballot question on at the moment. And I think as a
2 practical matter, it was probably too late for the 3 overwhelming majority of the counties to take it off at that 4 point anyway.

5 Q Well, let's get to that. What's your understanding
6 at this point in time of the status of the ballot question on 7 the ballots in the 67 counties? And let's start with
8 absentee ballots.

9 A It's -- the ballot question is on all absentee
10 balloting materials.

11 Q Is the ballot question -- how many counties still 12 have the ballot question on their election day materials
13 which would include provisional ballots and emergency
14 ballots?

15 A All 67 counties.

16 THE COURT REPORTER: Please move the mic a little
17 closer to you.

18 THE WITNESS: Sorry.

19 THE COURT REPORTER: Thanks.

20 BY MS. KOTULA:

21 Q Are counties required to publish any sort of 22 advertisement ahead of the primary election?

23 A They are, yes.

24 Q And where -- where do they -- where do they publish
25 that advertisement?

1           Q     So what was the deadline by which counties really
2 need to start printing those ballots? The practical
3 deadline, not talking about a legal one; the practical
4 deadline.

5           A     Again, all of these things depend somewhat on the 6 county. But in doing research regarding how counties might 7 respond to the Vodvarka ruling, we learned -- I think we 8 received responses from 40-some of the counties; and the 9 dates ranged anywhere from March 21st for finalizing
10 balloting materials to April 1st.

11          Q     And why -- why -- from an election administration
12 standpoint, why is it that counties -- why is there a 13 practical deadline? What is it that has to happen on the 14 back end of the process where counties have to make a 15 decision to essentially move forward, even if the ballot
16 isn't settled?

17          A     I think -- you know, the way elections are 18 administered today -- you know, 15, 20 years ago, the 19 majority of the Commonwealth had lever voting machines. So 20 making late changes simply required locking the lever and 21 maybe, you know, obscuring the -- the ballot label on a
22 particular office.

23                   The overwhelming majority of the voting systems are 24 electronic in nature. They're computers, essentially. And 25 they tabulate the votes electronically. They have to be

1 programmed. And all of that preparation has to occur weeks
2 ahead of the election to allow time for testing.

3 For example, counties -- counties have to announce
4 the day when their testing occurs. And they have to make 5 that announcement by the 40th day prior to a primary or 6 election. And that testing is conducted in a transparent
7 fashion as well. And it has to be conducted well enough in 8 advance of the election so that if there's an error in the 9 coding of the voting systems, there's time to make the 10 change.

11 Q I'll ask the same set of questions as I did with 12 the advertisement. If the Court grants the preliminary 13 injunction, which means that the question remains, what would 14 the impact be on absentee ballots in the counties?

15 A There would be no impact administratively on 16 absentee ballots.

17 Q And if the Court would deny the injunction and 18 we're following HR 783, what would the impact be?

19 A Well, the impact, aside from -- from ignoring the 20 votes cast on those ballots or not tallying the votes cast on 21 those ballots, I -- I suppose -- and, again, it would really 22 depend on when -- when we receive information from the 23 Court -- counties may -- as they're sending out the last 24 handful of absentee ballots requested, may be able to insert
25 a notice with that of some sort notifying electors. But I --

1 at this point in the process, I don't think that as a
2 practical matter, there will be much impact. The impact will
3 really be on the votes that are cast on those ballots at this 4 point.

5 Q Election day balloting materials, as we previously
6 talked about, the voting systems, the provisional and the 7 emergency -- and you indicated that the status as far -- in 8 all the -- in all 67 counties is that the question is on the 9 ballot on those different election day materials. Is that
10 correct?

11 A That's correct. Yes.

12 Q And just to clarify, are emergency ballots and 13 provisional ballots -- are they paper ballots?

14 A They are. They're paper based ballots. As I said,
15 they're either regular paper ballots or optical scan ballots
16 that would be read by a scanner or --

17 Q And --

18 A -- ballot reader.

19 Q I apologize. And if you could just keep your voice
20 up and speak in the microphone. I know it gets a little 21 hard. You kind of tail off at the end there. And I know you
22 can be loud, so --

23 A Thank you, Counselor. I'll take that as a
24 compliment.

25 Q So are those paper ballots, the emergency and the

1 interacting with a computer with a touch screen and making
2 your selections that way. So those are the three basic,
3 different categories of voting systems.

4 Q Do you know how many counties use the optical scan
5 voting system?

6 A I believe 17 counties use optical scan as their 7 primary voting system.

8 Q And then the remaining counties use the other types
9 of systems that you discussed?

10 A That's correct. Yes.

11 Q What was the practical deadline for counties to 12 essentially program their election day ballots on those 13 voting systems?

14 A The practical deadline, as I said, varies from 15 county to county. It was basically by the last week of 16 March; as what we were hearing from counties, that was their 17 deadline to complete the programming because of all the 18 things that have to occur after -- after the programming.

19 And I failed to mention this earlier, one of the -- 20 one of the reasons counties were required to go to electronic 21 voting systems or to at least provide for them was so that 22 disabled voters would have to the opportunity to vote. Part 23 of that process requires the preparation of audio files for 24 the electronic voting systems. All of these things are, you
25 know, somewhat time-consuming.

1 Q Would it be possible for any of the counties to
2 change their election day ballots at this point in time?

3 A No, I don't believe so.

4 Q What about the stickering that was discussed in
5 Philadelphia?

6 A It's theoretically possible. Again, it's going to 7 depend on the county. Philadelphia County has over a
8 thousand election districts. I would -- it's something that 9 if done at this late juncture would have to be very tightly
10 managed. I don't think -- I think there was reference
11 earlier to having poll workers maybe put the sticker on.
12 There's some risk in that. You have -- with that many 13 precincts, you have thousands of poll workers manning the 14 polls. You could have somebody accidentally put the sticker 15 over the wrong ballot question, for example. So all of those 16 things create risk.

17 In a county as large as Philadelphia, it may be 18 difficult. A small county, you know -- in my county, I could 19 probably drive around in two afternoons and put stickers on 20 if we have that type of voting system. But each county is 21 going to be different.

22 Q If -- if the Court denies the injunction and we're
23 following HR 783, will the Secretary amend his ballot
24 certification?

25 A Yes. If that occurs, if we get guidance from the

1 Court, we will certainly amend our ballot certification.

2 Q Would the Secretary be tallying the results of the 3 ballot question in the primary?

4 A I think as a practical matter, yes. We -- we will
5 -- we're at a point now -- we receive unofficial election
6 returns on election night from the counties. They're 7 required to provide them to us statutorily. The method that 8 we've provided for counties to report those results is an 9 electronic method. And we actually have mapped -- mapped all 10 of the files that we would be receiving from the counties, 11 the electronic files, to our own website to collect those 12 results. At this late juncture, it would be very difficult
13 and certainly very risky to try to make a change to the 14 status quo, even for the Department of State.

15 Q And what would the risk be?

16 A The risk would be -- would be -- the only way that 17 we could theoretically do that would be to somehow change the 18 system so that it masks the returns. I think we're at a 19 point now -- we've already -- over 50 counties, we've mapped
20 their files. And that takes -- we've been working on that 21 for two weeks. That takes some time. I don't think we could 22 redo that part of the process.

23 But even masking it would require us to make 24 changes to the code which then puts at risk all of the other 25 things that are on the ballot. I think -- I mean, we've been

1 talking a lot about the ballot question. Lest anyone
2 forgets, we have two Presidential primaries going on next
3 week. And the nation will be watching that.

4 Q If we are following HR 783 and the Secretary amends
5 the ballot certification, will the department provide any 6 advice to the counties about what to do?

7 A Yes. I think we will -- we will provide advice.
8 We'll certainly tell counties that to the extent possible --
9 and -- and typically we give them ideas of what they can do.
10 I think at this point, we'll probably be -- our advice will 11 probably be one thing: to provide notification, try to 12 educate voters, you know, what -- through their website and 13 certainly posting notice in the polling places if possible.

14 Our preference would normally be that they're 15 posted in each voting system. But, again, I think you heard
16 Commissioner Deeley testify that over 1500 of their machines
17 have already been sent out, meaning that they've already been 18 tested; they've been locked and sealed, so they -- they can't 19 be opened at this point prior to election day. They're 20 sealed specifically to stop tampering.

21 So I would think that posting would have to occur
22 somewhere in the polling place in some counties, not 23 necessarily inside the voting system.

24 MS. KOTULA: Your Honor, may I approach the 25 witness?

1 that they all got out to the polling places.

2 Q And that's not something that the Secretary of the 3 Commonwealth would actually perform logistically, is it?

4 A No, it is not. It's a burden that would be borne
5 by the counties.

6 Q You would rely on the counties to do so, correct?

7 A We would, yes.

8 Q And further, you'd then rely on however this gets 9 attached or posted at the voting place, correct?

10 A That is correct. Yes.

11 Q And there's certainly no regulations or supervision
12 about where to post it in the voting place, correct?

13 A I -- there are -- the Election Code does require 14 other postings that are statutorily mandated postings. We 15 would -- the expectation is they would be posted in the 16 vicinity of those.

17 Q There's no way --

18 A There's no guarantee that that's what would happen.

19 Q And there's no way the Secretary could make sure
20 that that was, forget uniformly followed, even generally
21 followed, correct? You have no mechanism in place, correct?

22 A I believe that's an accurate characterization.
23 Yes.

24 Q And this piece of paper, would you expect it to be 25 taped?

1           A     In some cases, taped. Perhaps stapled to another
2 document. I --

3           Q     It could fall off, could get knocked off; a lot of 4 things could happen to it, right?

5           A     Yes. We have 9100-plus polling places, so --

6           Q     The fact of the matter is when it comes to 7 constitutional amendments, the Constitution requires formal
8 advertising statewide -- isn't that correct -- of notice of 9 the constitutional amendment?

10          A     Yes. That is correct.

11          Q     And that's something that the Secretary does 12 supervise, doesn't it?

13          A     It is, yes.

14          Q     And it's a very careful process to make sure that 15 measures are taken that are reasonably calculated to reach 16 the voters, right?

17          A     That's correct. Yes. Our -- our -- we --

18          Q     Have you ever seen a constitutional amendment that 19 was allowed to be noticed by paste -- taping a piece of paper
20 on a wall in a voting place by a volunteer?

21          A     I've not seen it in my tenure; no.

22          Q     Okay. Just so that we understand, in response to 23 some of your questions, I thought I heard you say that if HR
24 783 is allowed to stand, that the Secretary of the 25 Commonwealth would nevertheless tally the votes on the

1 constitutional amendment. Did I misunderstand your
2 testimony?

3 A No. I -- my testimony -- at this stage, at this 4 juncture, as a practical matter, I don't know -- right now we 5 are set up to publish election results for everything. And,
6 you know, again, this is only one of the many things people
7 will be voting on. We have worked with over 50 counties to 8 map the receipt of those results to our website. Our options
9 are very limited at this point. It may -- we may be backed 10 into a corner; and without taking the whole website down, we 11 may be forced the way it's set up now to publish results for 12 this ballot question along with all of the other things.

13 Q Well, but HR 783 is not discretionary in that 14 regard. Doesn't it read the Secretary shall not make a tally
15 of the votes cast on proposed constitutional amendment number 16 one? Isn't that what it says?

17 A That is what it says, yes.

18 Q And --

19 A And we would make every effort to comply with that.
20 I'm simply speaking from a practical point of view. We are 21 very late in the process now, and our options for complying
22 with that particular mandate are very limited.

23 Q So you're saying that as you sit here today, you
24 cannot assure the Court 100 percent that this mandate will be 25 followed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth?

1           A     I think we're at a point now where we would
2 probably -- we would hope anyway that the Court would provide 3 some guidance on how we comply with it, similar to the 4 Court's guidance to counties --

5           Q     I'm not trying to --

6           A     We would make every effort to do that. But it's 7 risky at this point given everything, all the work that's 8 been put into that. And, you know, the Secretary of the 9 Commonwealth and me as well, we have an obligation here to 10 the voters of the Commonwealth and to all the people who are 11 watching around the nation. I believe there will be a 12 significant number of people watching for our election
13 results on election night. We have an obligation to provide 14 information on all of the other things that are going on, on 15 the ballot aside from this ballot question.

16          Q     I don't want to be argumentative, but I do want to 17 sharpen this point, if I may.

18          A     Sure.

19          Q     I want to be as precise as I can. As you sit here
20 today, if this Court upholds HR 783, you cannot assure this 21 Court 100 percent that the Secretary of the Commonwealth can 22 obey the command of not tallying the votes cast on the 23 proposed constitutional amendment number one. Isn't that
24 correct?

25          A     That's correct for the majority of counties. We

1 will receive votes from the counties.

2 Q So you cannot comply -- as a practical matter, you
3 cannot give this Court 100 percent assurance that even if it
4 upholds HR 783, that you can comply with it, correct?

5 A Correct. We will do everything we can to comply
6 with it, but --

7 Q Nothing further.

8 A -- it would be very difficult.

9 MR. BOCHETTO: Nothing further, Judge.

10 THE COURT: Ms. Kotula, do you have any redirect?

11 MS. KOTULA: Just a few questions, Your Honor.

13 BY MS. KOTULA:

14 Q I just want to be clear about something. When we 15 talk about tallying results, is that a technical term?

16 A It -- it is a technical term, tallying. It's not 17 necessarily a term that's used in the Election Code. The 18 Election Code usually refers to canvassing and tabulating
19 votes that are cast.

20 Q Does the Secretary actually tally election night
21 results?

22 A Yes. The Secretary receives results. So for a 23 statewide candidate or a statewide ballot question, the 24 Secretary of the Commonwealth is receiving results
25 electronically from the various county boards of elections.

1 correct?

2 A That's correct. Yes.

3 Q If HR 783 is in effect, are you able -- are you
4 able to assure that the Secretary will not -- would not tally
5 those results in the certification, the official
6 certification?

7 A Yes. We could assure that, yes.

8 MS. KOTULA: Thank you.

9 MR. BOCHETTO: Your Honor, may I ever so briefly --

10 THE COURT: Not yet.

11 MR. BOCHETTO: No.

12 THE COURT: Mr. Marks, one of the things in this 13 case that concerns me greatly -- again, you can see that in 14 the order that we issued in advance of this hearing -- is 15 given the late date. You know, we're talking about an 16 election a week away. And as I watched Morning Joe this 17 morning, they're already talking about Pennsylvania.

18 I'm going to posit two scenarios to you, and you
19 tell me which one in your experience poses the greater risk
20 to the voters of Pennsylvania. One scenario is that we 21 stop -- that the Court essentially stops the vote from 22 happening, simply affirms the striking of the ballot
23 question. And another one is the Court enforces the part of 24 the resolution that prohibits the Secretary from certifying
25 the results of the ballot question. Which of those in your

1 view based on your experience, understanding, as I read the 2 Secretary's answer -- and you attested to the facts in the 3 answer, correct?

4 THE WITNESS: Right. Correct. Yes.

5 THE COURT: Which one of those scenarios pose the 6 greatest risks to the integrity of the results of the primary 7 election?

8 THE WITNESS: In my experience, I believe the 9 former one because you would be -- you would be -- counties
10 would be trying to comply. We would be trying to comply.
11 And I believe -- I firmly believe that would add confusion at 12 this late date. Voters may be confused.

13 Certainly the less risky thing is to maintain the 14 status quo. And I think if what you're positing, if I
15 understand what you're positing, you're talking about a 16 process that would allow the vote to continue but essentially 17 preclude the Secretary from certifying the results after the 18 fact.

19 THE COURT: That's one of the scenarios I posited
20 to you. Correct.

21 THE WITNESS: Right. So that one, everything would 22 go unabated. The only thing that would be stopped would be 23 the certification of -- of the vote totals.

24 Trying to put the brakes on now even -- even with 25 these kinds of measures potentially adds confusion and bias

1 BY MR. BOCHETTO:

2 Q There is a statutory procedure, Mr. Marks, about
3 canvassing the vote, correct?

4 A That's correct. Yes.

5 Q And the word tally as a term of art, tally is 6 subsumed within canvassing, correct?

7 A I -- yes. I believe so, yes.

8 Q So when you fulfill your statutory authority to 9 canvass the vote, you are tallying votes?

10 A Correct. We are -- we are accumulating vote totals
11 coming in from the counties, thus tallying them.

12 Q Now, the certification process is a different
13 process than tallying the votes, correct?

14 A It is -- it is similar; where the certification
15 process, we're essentially tallying -- we're tallying in both 16 cases. One, we're tallying unofficial returns reported by 17 the counties. In the second process, the certification, we 18 are tallying official returns that have been signed by the 19 county board of elections that have been subject to the 20 waiting period for recounts to be requested either through 21 the county or -- or through the court of common pleas. And 22 then those official totals are tallied.

23 So I would -- I would argue we're tallying in both
24 cases. One is an unofficial tally of the election returns.
25 The other is an official one.
